Governors Eye Their Fuel Crisis Powers

By DON MCLEOD

AP Political Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Another winter of fuel crisis is a real prospect and almost half the states are not prepared to cope with it, the country's governors are being warned.

"All indications are that there is a likelihood of an emergency," Gov. Robert Ray of Iowa said in an interview at the National Governors' Conference, which ends its three-day meeting today.

Ray, who is chairman of the governors' subcommittee on emergency preparedness, said avoiding another crisis winter depends on a combination of good fortune, with no severe weather and no disruption in energy supply.

"But, if we have another cold winter like last year, then we could well run into a shortage," he said Thursday.

Compounding the problem is the fact that a survey by the NGC found 23 of the governors "do not have the authority to act in the face of an energy emergency," he said.

"We are talking about authority to allow them to shut off public service or public buildings or close certain businesses at certain times to be able to do something about the allocation of fuel, to reroute the distribution of certain sources of fuel," Ray said.

Even among states where there is some emergency authority, Ray added, there are questions of legality. For example, many governors have acted under disaster authorization although "it was not meant at the time those were enacted to include energy disasters."

In some states, including Ohio, Pennsylvania and South Carolina, the legal authorities have upheld this broad interpretation of governors' emergency powers. But in other states, where business and store closings have been resisted, the authority of the governors is still cloudy or under attack.

"We are going to recommend that the governors seek the authority," Ray said, "And as an alternative or an addition to this, the President might have the authority to delegate this authority in the case of a national emergency.

"Presently, the President might perhaps run a Federal Energy Administration officer proposal include a national energy information assistance system to facilitate delivery of available energy to affected areas in crisis and the use of Coast Guard and Army engineer vessels to keep frozen waterways open.

Although the subcommittee studied gasoline rationing, Ray said it decided this should be used only as a last resort. He also said state plans should include provision for conversion to alternate fuels and fuel reserves stored by the state. He also called for a national petroleum allocation system so that a few hard-hit states don't carry all the burden.

Ray said experience gained from last winter's natural gas shortage would be helpful in adjusting to severe weather problems this year for a short period but he said something like an extended oil embargo "could be very crippling."

"We could have a coal strike which is almost probable," Ray added, "and that could be a shortage we would have to deal with."

Conference Being Held In Detroit

In to handle certain shortages," Ray said, "But why not give that to the governor if the governor seeks it?"

Ray's subcommittee is submitting a report to the conference today recommending that the states adopt energy emergency management plans and that national legislation be enacted to provide coordination, assistance and authority for the states.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police, still investigating two bomb explosions in the city earlier this week, noticed an unmarked package outside the Cuban Embassy.

Two dogs trained to sniff out explosives were brought to the scene Thursday and one of the dogs, according to police, reacted positively.

When the package was opened, the bomb squad found only fried chicken.

Berrien Church Council Opposed To Dog Racing

The Berrien county Council of Churches last night voted unanimously to oppose a state Senate bill which would legalize dog racing in Michigan.

Rev. Arnold Bolin of Benton Harbor, executive director of the council, said representatives from 23 of the 43 congregations comprising the council attended the meeting.

A Niles man last month announced he is a member of a group of investors ready to apply for a license to operate a dog racing track in Berrien county if the sport becomes legal. Sheridan Cook during a public hearing Aug. 8 told a subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations committee that the group plans to construct a $10 million track that would employ 400 to 500 people.

He told the subcommittee the track would be located somewhere in Berrien county within a mile or two of I-94.

The Council of Churches'

resolution said the organization's board of directors was opposed to the dog racing bill "as a continuing affirmation of the council's belief that legalized gambling is an unfavorable element in the state as a whole and a given community where located"

The resolution said: "The council reaffirms its opposition to all forms of legalized gambling and extensions of such gambling in the state of Michigan." The resolution contended dog racing "is an unsound economic basis for any fiscal component of state and local financing."

The Council of Churches last year opposed a horse racing track that was to have been built in Three Oaks township on a 480-acre tract. The plan was dropped shortly after the Indiana legislature voted to override a governor's veto of a bill that would allow horse racing in that state.

Sen. Charles O. Zollar (R-Benton Harbor) is one of 10 co-sponsors of the Senate bill, and State Reps. Harry Gast Jr. (R-St. Joseph) and Ray Mitten (R-Niles) are co-sponsors of a similar bill introduced in the Michigan House.

During the public hearing, Sen. Earl Nelson (D-Lansing) said he believed the legislature will approve the racing bill this fall and place it on the governor's desk for his signature.

Cabinet Member Zeros In On Lance

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The effectiveness of Bert Lance as President Carter's budget director has been so seriously damaged by recent disclosures that he may be compelled to resign, Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland said Thursday.

In a copyrighted interview with a Washington correspondent for the Minneapolis Tribune, Bergland said Lance could still be vindicated by Congressional hearings into his financial dealings as a Georgia banker before joining the Carter administration.

over Lance could have a debilitating effect on the administration's plan to achieve a balanced budget by 1980.

But Bergland added: "If his effectiveness can be restored, if the Senate hearings vindicate him and it's proven to be a lot of 'hoo rah,' then he'll go back to work and that'll be it."

Meanwhile, Federal examiners are conducting a nationwide survey of national banks in an effort to find out if other bankers are involved in questionable practices allegedly used by Budget Director Bert Lance.

DENVER (AP) — A lot of eyebrows jumped as city officials examined hundreds of budget requests and found the Department of Public Works had requested $2,800 for three floor socks, each to contain three tuns. But before cracking too many jokes about asking for a lot of bread, a department official hastened to explain the printed request read Thursday contained a typographical error. What public works really wanted, he said, were three 1000 floor jacks.

DOWAGIAC — A four-year-old girl was injured fatally in a one-car crash northeast of here yesterday morning in Cass county's Wayne township.

The girl's mother was hospitalized and a younger brother was treated at the hospital and released as a result of the crash.

The victim was identified as Christine Gant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Connie) Gant, route 7, Dowagiac.

A spokesman for the funeral home where the girl's body was taken reported Mrs. Gant and the children had been living in South Bend until two days prior to the crash.

Cass county sheriff's deputies said Christine was pronounced dead at Lee Memorial hospital a short time after being taken there. They said the accident occurred about 10:45 a.m.

Her mother, Mrs. Connie Gant, 22, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at the hospital. Mrs. Gant's one-year-old son, Billy Gene Gant, was treated and released from the hospital.

The death was the ninth traffic fatality on Cass county roads this year.

Police said Mrs. Gant apparently lost control of the auto she was driving on Rudy road,

The car left the roadway, traveling some 150 feet before striking a tree a half-mile south of Gage street.

Christine was born March 12, 1973, in Badherfield, Germany.

Surviving in addition to her parents and brother are paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Gant, Dowagiac, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hummels, South Bend, Ind.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Groner funeral home, Dowagiac. Burial will be in South Wayne cemetery.

Drug Addict Baby Given To Mother

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — The mother of a baby born addicted to heroin may keep the child even though she earlier was judged guilty of child abuse, a judge has ruled.

Oakland County Probate Judge John J. O'Brien on Thursday ruled the mother, a 20-year-old Pontiac woman whose name has been kept secret, apparently had shaken off her own heroin habit and had gone back to high school.

"She has made a good start. We will monitor her to make sure she perseveres," the judge said.

The mother gave birth to a son March 30 at Pontiac General Hospital. Doctors said he went into withdrawal immediately.

His mother's use of heroin during her pregnancy made him addicted, doctors said.

Back Ache Weighs 7 Lbs., 6 Oz.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Sandra Conaway went to the hospital Monday with a backache, and came home Thursday with a new baby. The unsuspecting mother said she was "flabbergasted" when the nurse at the Wilmington Medical Center told her she didn't have a kidney infection, but that she was in labor. Holly Elizabeth, a healthy 7-pound, 6-ounce was born early Tuesday, and nurses said she was apparently carried full term. "I had no idea I was pregnant," said Mrs. Conaway, 34, who admitted that she had put on quite a bit of weight in recent months. She said she felt "perfectly normal" until last week, when she began having back pains. Mrs. Conaway and her husband, Bayard, a warehouseman, said their first child has made everything "just fall into place." They moved from a two-bedroom mobile home to a three-bedroom trailer a month ago.

Greasing The Skids For Bert Lance

It is an occupational hazard peculiar to the Presidency for the nation's chief executive officer to learn he has installed one or more persons in critical jobs who become an embarrassment to himself and his Administration.

The reaction to the discovery has varied.

FDR rode out successfully the objections to Frances Perkins, his Secretary of Labor. Business and union chieftains alike called for her dismissal as a theorist in labor-management problems of the most impractical sort.

Harry Truman had all manner of buzzards in his aerie which he defended to the end of his term. Though this outside criticism did not phase him, it helped to bury Adlai Stevenson in running against Eisenhower.

Eisenhower was in office only a matter of months when the news seeped out that Sherman Adams, his primary personal advisor, was taking payola just as many of Truman's appointees did. Ike dropped Sherman.

Lyndon Johnson preferred moving a controversial officeholder to another cranny in the Administration. Shipping interests violently opposed Nicholas Johnson, as chairman of the Maritime Commission. When his term ran out, LBJ transferred him to the Federal Communications Commission, much to the distress of the broadcasting industry.

Jimmy Carter is up to the law on what to do with Bert Lance, the director in the Office of Budget and Management.

Because OBM rather effectively determines who gets what from the federal till, it is in many respects the second most powerful office in the government.

Lance is a long time confidante of Carter, going back to Jimmy's first unsuccessful campaign for governor of Georgia.

He prides himself on being a country banker. Unquestionably he is the most preferred of all the Carter following throughout the business community. Jimmy installed him at OBM to rally business support to his Administration.

Recent disclosures of Lance overdrawing in his own bank, of shifting bank funds to large city banks to obtain personal loans to acquire more stock in his own bank, and using a bank owned airplane to campaign for governor have shaken that rapport.

Except for a Georgia statute banning the bank airplane for campaign purposes, nothing uncovered so far shows Bert as breaking the law. That he stretched the rules of the game to the breaking point is clear.

Senators Percy of Illinois and Ribicoff of Connecticut, members of an ethics committee scheduled to start digging deeper into Lance's affairs next week, claim new evidence will point to something worse than questionable financial practice.

Carter's predicament is in Lance tarnishing Jimmy's carefully prepared image of being on the up and up and of having aides of equal stature. No Watergate characters is the word.

The latest speculation from along the Potomac is that Lance may follow the route taken earlier in this year by Theodore Sorenson.

Carter had nominated John F. Kennedy's speechwriter as director of the CIA.

At the Senate's confirmation hearings, the word came out that Sorenson had used confidential files to write his book on the Kennedy years, "All The President's Men."

Sorenson withdrew his name after appearing before a televised meeting of the Senate's Judiciary Committee in which he delivered a lengthy defense of his action.

If Lance should take the same approach, it would spare Carter the bitterness in sacking a close personal friend.

Airing the spiciness in Bert's past completely misses the main complaint against Lance.

He has not been on the job at OBM from the day he took office. Instead he has turned it over to some assistants while he has been padding up and down the Washington corridors.

Raising the curtain on the Georgia scene thus becomes another instance of looking at the hole and forgetting about the doughnut.

This, though, is the stuff of which politics is made.

SAYS EXCAVATIONS CAUSE PROBLEM

Editor,
I read with interest the news item in the Friday, Sept. 2 paper regarding the new Lincoln apartments underway. The picture showed Mr. Robert Pozzivilko, president of Superior Home Builders, turning over the first spadeful of earth for a new apartment complex.

It is hard to believe Mr. Pozzivilko intends to complete this project by next Spring. I live in the Pinebrook Subdivision, alongside Eaton Park, and Superior Home Builders excavated two houses across the street from me last November. These excavations still sit there. They were full of water during the Spring months and a danger to neighborhood children. Now stagnant water and mud are a problem.

I called Mr. Pozzivilko in June, and asked him what he intended to do about these excavations. He said, "I'll take care of them at the end of the week." When he didn't follow through I called Mr. Harold Morrison, St. Joseph Township health and building inspector, and related the problem to him. He said, "Mr. Pozzivilko is very busy."

I don't know what writing this letter will help anything, but I do wish Superior Home Builders would complete one project before they start on another. The last they could do is fill in these excavations if they do not intend to build houses, before a child is hurt at these building sites.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Pozzivilko said he does not remember the call writer said she made to him, but added he will check on the excavations. He said he also lives in Pinebrook subdivision and was not aware of a problem from the excavations. He said he held up intended work on proposed houses until issue of drainage from new Herald-Palladium property nearby is decided. That would determine whether to build houses in the subdivision with or without basements, he indicated.

FINDS OUT TOO LATE BOAT LAUNCH IS FREE

Editor,
This letter pertains to an injustice done to me by the city of Benton Harbor.

Having been a resident here for approximately two years, I am not aware of all the rules concerning the facilities Benton Harbor has to offer. Being an avid fisherman, the best location to launch my boat for Lake Michigan would seem to be the one on Riverview Drive. However, I was reluctant to pay $2 a launch or $50 a year for the privilege of putting my boat in, so for most of the year I've used the Benton township launch.

For the last month or so I have been paying $2 a launch at Riverview Drive, fully unaware that as a resident of the city my taxes pay for this privilege; I have probably paid this amount 10 or 15 times. Only last Friday as I was launching a lady worker my $2 was I asked where I lived. When I stated my address, which is in the city, I was informed that being a resident of the city, I could get in free.

I believe this was the young lady's first day on the job, yet she had enough common sense and courtesy to ask where I lived before just grabbing the money and waiting for the next $2. She deserves and receives my appreciation; the other workers could take a cue from her and be more concerned with the public that gives them a job rather than just collecting the money.

I am going to attempt to get some of my money back by showing my used ticket stubs. If my attempts are unsuccessful, so be it; this city probably needs the money more than I do.

Congress Fears The Gun Lobby

WASHINGTON — If there is one issue guaranteed to reduce the entire United States Congress to a mass of quivering jelly, it is gun control.

Terrified by the perceived political clout of the so-called "gun lobby," the average senator or House member dives for the nearest foxhole at the mere suggestion that Congress do something to restrict this country's murderous traffic in firearms.

Public opinion may show sizeable majorities in favor of stiffer gun controls, especially for handguns, but members of Congress know from experience that it is only the opponents who care strongly enough about the issue to translate their convictions into effective political action.

All of which may help to explain why President Carter, who endorsed tighter handgun controls during his campaign last year, now seems in no great hurry to put Congress on the spot by asking it to approve such legislation.

For more than a month now, the White House domestic council staff has been sitting on proposed legislation which the Justice Department has drafted that would ban the manufacture and sale of cheap "Saturday night specials" and tighten existing controls on the sale of all handguns.

Although Carter is expected to send a major crime control message in Capitol Hill this fall, it is not yet clear whether the handgun legislation will be a part of it.

"I sure as hell hope so, but we haven't heard anything yet from the White House," said one Justice Department lawyer who helped draft the proposed legislation.

A newly completed pilot program of the Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms has conclusively demonstrated that major reductions in crime can be achieved by restricting the availability of firearms, especially handguns.

Through concentrated enforcement of existing federal gun control laws, the ATF projected to a 20 per cent reduction in gun-related crimes in the three cities targeted during the year-long program: Washington, Chicago and Boston.

At the same time, the Treasury Department project also dramatically highlighted the gaps in the existing federal law and the ineffectiveness of purely local gun control measures.

For example, in tracing nearly 29,000 guns used in crimes in the three urban areas, investigators found that 80 per cent of the weapons had come from sources outside the local jurisdictions, all of which had gun control ordinances stricter than present federal law. Some 42 per cent of the weapons were traced to out-of-state sources; the rest had come from suburban or rural in-state areas with looser controls.

"Without uniform firearms laws, it is extremely difficult to contain the nationwide flow of crime guns from those areas with few controls into areas with strict controls," said Rex D. Davis, director of the ATF Bureau.

Saturday night specials — cheap, small-caliber guns with no sporting value whatsoever — remain in wide circulation, despite a federal ban on their importation. Handguns accounted for 78 per cent of the crime weapons traced in the ATF study, and more than one-quarter of those handguns were Saturday night specials.

Domestic gun manufacturers have more than compensated for any drop-off in supply in such weapons the import ban might have caused, it is apparent.

The ATF project is only the latest in an endless chain of studies demonstrating the correlation between handgun availability and crime rates, and the ineffectiveness of state and local efforts to deal with the problem.

U.S. Going After Riches

WASHINGTON — Now that the Law of the Sea Conference is becalmed, Congress is preparing to move swiftly to make sure that American mining companies get to the mineral riches on the ocean floor before other nations do.

The House is expected to approve before end of this session a measure which would grant licenses to several mining consortiums to begin unilateral full-scale exploration of the deep and insure them up to $350 million per company for any losses caused by any future treaty. The Senate will hold hearings on a similar bill later this month.

Experts have estimated that as much as $1 trillion — that's trillion, not billion — in basalt-sized nodules, which can be processed into nickel, copper, cobalt and manganese, lies on the depths of the ocean floor. Only the United States and seven other nations have, or soon will have, the technology to exploit these deep seabed resources.

But these riches belong, if not strictly legally at least morally, to all nations, not just to those with the capability to exploit them. In recognition of this common worldwide heritage, the United Nations' Law of the Sea Conference has been trying since 1973 to reach an agreement under which the minerals could be fairly shared by all.

The last conference session, however, ended in a stalemate this summer. The Third World nations demanded an international arrangement under which they would control distribution of the profits, while the U.S. found unacceptable, particularly since the Third World nations do not have the ability to mine the oceans themselves.

Unfortunately, the failure of the Law of the Sea Conference gives neither the President nor Congress much choice. Better to let the corporations get a little richer than to ignore that treasure trove of minerals which could make our nation as a whole much richer.

Past Time To Stamp Out Food Stamp Chiseling

If honesty and efficiency are the standards by which government programs ought to be measured, the federal food stamp program deserves a failing grade. Study after study has provided ample evidence of wholesale fraud on the part of recipients and an administration of the program so lax as to be almost unbelievable.

An Agriculture Department study of the program for the last six months of 1976 merely confirms what other studies have revealed. An estimated 253,000 households in each of those six months were receiving stamps worth more than $222 million at an annual rate, although not one of those recipients was eligible.

Another 1.17 million households were receiving more stamps than they were entitled to ($374 million in annual overissues). That adds up to almost $600 million in assistance for which the recipients were not qualified.

For what it is worth, another 430,720 households rejected about $100 million (annualized) in food stamps for which they were not qualified. If internal controls cannot do the job on this program, perhaps it is time to send in Justice Department investigators.

Duplex Plan Set Aside By Planners

The Benton township planning commission last night voted to table a rezoning request to permit construction of seven duplexes in a subdivision north of the Whirlpool administrative center.

The vote came after six people appeared before the commission objecting to construction of duplexes on Monte court and petitions with 79 signatures opposing the duplexes were presented. Monte court presently is zoned only for single-family dwellings.

Commission Chairman James Benson said John Monte, owner of the land proposed for the duplexes, had asked rezoning consideration be tabled until further notice.

The commission also sent to committee a proposal to amend the zoning ordinance so a $100,000 bicycle shop can be built on Napier avenue.

Real estate agent Tom DeRosa said he was representing St. Joseph Cycle shop and asked that the ordinance be amended to permit the shop to be built between Norwood avenue and Pipestone road. The ordinance currently allows office buildings but not commercial establishments that generate heavy traffic.

Arthur Bull Sr., of 2137 Monte court, and Edna Casey, of 2208 Monte court, presented petitions with signatures of 79 residents of the area objecting to the duplexes.

The duplex apartments are proposed for seven 110 by 171-foot lots along Monte court. The request for rezoning from single to two-family dwelling was made by James Fulton of Bridgman, who said he has an option to purchase the land. Fulton was represented by Dan Shoemaker of Fister and Clements Realtors of St. Joseph.

Monte court runs north off Monte road, an east-west street between US-33 and Paw Paw avenue.

DeRosa said St. Joseph Cycle shop, 2364 South Cleveland avenue, St. Joseph township, plans to relocate in Benton township along Napier and is planning a 6,000-square-foot two-story building. He said the shop is considering buying one of several properties on the north side of Napier. He said the shop is considering buying one of several properties on the north side of Napier.

DeRosa asked the present D-2 zoning be amended to include bicycle shops because they do not attract a large amount of traffic like other retail businesses such as restaurants and grocery stores.

Planning Commissioner George Culverhouse agreed. "A bicycle shop isn't like a hamburger stand," he said. "How many times does a person go to buy a bicycle?" Culverhouse also asked the planning commission's ordinance revision committee to study amending the D-2 zoning ordinance to include other types of businesses such as book stores, luggage shops, key shops, and photography shops.

A mistake by a Ford Motor Co. computer saved Berrien county more than $7,000 on the purchase of new squad cars for the county sheriff's department.

Lad Stacey, chairman of the county's finance committee, said Berrien last April placed an order for eight new squad cars. But, he noted, Ford's computer somehow changed the figure to 15 — and that's how many 1977 LTD's Ford built to Berrien's specifications.

The county had agreed to pay $5,035 for each of the eight cars on the original order, but Ford wanted $6,128 for each of the seven extra cars, Stacey said. Berrien officials told Ford they would be willing to purchase the extra cars, but only for $5,035 and Ford agreed, according to Stacey.

"It was a good break," Stacey said of the computer error. "We have five of the extra cars in storage, and will save them in use as replacements for the cars now on the road."

Stacey noted the savings between the price Berrien paid for the extra cars and what Ford wanted amounted to $7,035. But, he added, the price of 1978 squad cars is expected to jump to about $6,400 each, "so it will be an even greater savings to the county."

Stacey said there are only five of the seven extra cars in storage because one has already been used to replace a squad car which had high mileage, and another was sold to the Village of Stevensville.

Stevensville's former police car broke down, and the village wouldn't have been able to order another until fall, Stacey said. He said village officials asked the county if one of the extra cars could be purchased, and the county's finance committee agreed to sell one of the cars for the purchase price of $5,035.

"We don't want to get into the business of selling cars to other municipalities," Stacey said. "This was strictly one governmental unit helping out another in need."

County Coordinator Roger Petrie said the county's high mileage squad car was sold in the Village of Gallien for $1,500.

Petrie said the warranties on the five cars in storage do not go into effect until the cars actually go into service, which he estimated would be in early 1978. He said the present cars will be pulled from service when they get about 80,000 to 100,000 miles on them.

Petrie added the warranties are for 12,000 miles or 12 months, whichever comes first. The sheriff's department, he said, uses 10 marked patrol cars and three marked marine division cars. The money for the extra cars came from the current budget's contingency fund, Stacey said.

New X-Ray Equipment Okayed For Mercy

The Michigan Department of Health has announced Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, has been granted approval to replace some equipment in its radiology department. The hospital may now remove its present radiographic table and replace it with equipment having both radiographic and fluoroscopic capability. The fluoroscope equipment in use in another room will be dismantled and removed because of its inadequate performance. The exchange of equipment, which will cost about $200,000, will be achieved by next January. The project is approved by the Division of Health Facility Planning and Construction of the State Health department. Concurring in that approval were the Southwest Michigan Health Systems agency, regional health planners for the area, and the state administrators of the federal Hill-Burton program.

Western Michigan Will Offer MBA Studies Here

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Between 100 and 200 Southwestern Michigan residents, most of them full-time workers, are expected to enroll in Western Michigan university's master of business administration (MBA) degree program, it was announced Thursday.

University officials outlined plans to begin the program in Benton Harbor in January during a luncheon attended by 50 businessmen and educators at Schiller's restaurant, Stevensville.

Dr. Darrell G. Jones, dean of the College of Business, said candidates for the program will be able to complete all class requirements without having to travel to WMU's campus in Kalamazoo.

Most courses for the program, which is being offered for the first time by WMU through its Benton Harbor regional center, will be held at Lake Michigan college, Jones said.

WMU is offering the program because Michigan State university's graduate center in Benton Harbor will discontinue its master of business administration degree program, Jones told the audience.

He described an MBA as "one of the most marketable degrees."

WMU President John T.

Bernhard told the audience the program is aimed primarily toward business people who want to continue their education. He asked the business leaders to help promote the program by informing their employees of it.

Jones said the university's admission standards will be the same as for full-time students. "We turn away as many graduate school candidates as we accept," he said. All candidates will have to pass an examination showing basic English skills, he added.

Candidates must register at WMU's Benton Harbor regional center, 777 Riverview drive, by Oct. 14 to take the graduate management admission test. Applications for admittance in the program must be filled out by Nov. 1.

Suit Asks Murderess' Home Be Sold For Debt

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A Benton Harbor firm has filed suit in Berrien Circuit court asking that the court order the sale of the house of a convicted murderess to satisfy a remodeling debt.

The defendant in the suit, Victoria Ann Hollis, was sentenced in July to life in prison after pleading guilty to second degree murder of her husband, John Hollis.

General Building Maintenance, of 405 East Main street, claims Mrs. Hollis on Feb. 17 entered into a contract for repairs to her house at 692 Payne street, Benton Harbor. The suit says the contract called for $2,390 worth of remodeling, and Mrs. Hollis later agreed to an additional $254 worth of repairs.

The suit alleges that all the work was completed but Mrs. Hollis failed to pay the bill. The suit asks the court to determine the amount due to General Building Maintenance, and order sale of the house to pay the debt.

John Hollis was found dead

June 21, 1976, in the bathtub of the couple's former home at 708 Payne. When Mrs. Hollis was arrested, she listed an address of 692 Payne.

On April 5, 1977, the Hollis' son, Tommy, 3, died of injuries allegedly sustained in a beating. David J. Hall, identified in court testimony as a boyfriend of Mrs. Hollis, has been charged with the murder of the boy.

However, Hall has been found mentally incompetent to stand trial, and has been remanded to an institution until he is judged competent to stand trial.

Agricultural Engineers Win Award For Project

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers, headquartered at 2500 Niles road, St. Joseph township, recently received an award for its work on a public relations project.

The award, a certificate mounted on a plaque, was presented by the Council of Engineering and Scientific Society Executives, a professional group of some 120 salaried engineers of engineering and scientific societies in the U.S.

ASAE is a nonprofit organization promoting improved engineering methods in agriculture.

The certificate cited the ASAE for the excellence of media presentations that described the organization's year-long Bicentennial project, "Heritage and Horizons in Agricultural Engineering," a report dealing with the application of engineering in agriculture to help solve worldwide problems of energy and food shortages.

The project was undertaken as a joint effort of the Society's staff, a task force of ASAE members, and a public relations council, according to J.L. Butt, ASAE executive vice president.

DEGREE PROGRAM UNVEILED: Western Michigan university (WMU) officials yesterday announced that for the first time, Southwestern Michigan residents can earn a master of business administration degree through WMU's Benton Harbor regional center. Discussing the program during a luncheon yesterday in Stevensville were WMU President John T. Bernhard (left); Dr. Darrell G. Jones (center), dean of the College of Business; and Stephen R. Nisbet, director of WMU's regional center in Benton Harbor. Jones said holders of graduate degrees in business administration are in great demand by business and industry. (Staff photo)

Around the clock with WOMEN

Listeners Are Wild About Eubie

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Eubie Blake, the ragtime pianist and composer, knows how to wow an audience.

He tells them he wrote "The Charleston Rag" in 1899 and then he plays it, showing it's no slouch of a song and he's no slouch of a player. Then he announces some song he wrote just a week or two ago and he plays it, and it's no slouch of a song either.

He writes songs every day, even now at 94, Blake says. "I don't know how to do anything else. My mother used to say, 'Little Wally' that's what she called me, 'do such and such—oh, never mind, you'd do it wrong!' All I knew was to play the piano."

But Blake doesn't sit at the piano to write songs; he thinks of melodies in his head and writes them down. Then he works out orchestrations on the piano. "My teachers taught me that if you go to the piano to write—melodies you'll write them pianistically. And it has got to be very smooth."

On a recent evening, Blake and his wife Marian took another couple to see "Unsung Cole" off-Broadway in New York and then on to supper at Michael's Pub where trumpeter Ruby Braff was playing. Braff, seeing them come in, immediately saying into Blake's "You're Lucky to Me."

Blake recalled that when he and lyricist Andy Razaf were working on "Blackbirds of 1930" for Broadway, Razaf gave him that title and told Blake to write the melody. "He thought I'd go to the piano, but I never do that. I bet him I could write the melody in half an hour. It took me 40 minutes—a 64-bar verse and 32-bar chorus."

His long-time lyricist and partner, Noble Sissle, was college-educated and could read music, Blake says, but Razaf couldn't. "I'd play a melody for him, with one finger, on the piano, four bars at a time. He'd write the lyrics down. I never saw him. In my lifetime, to rub a line out. He might have with Pats Walker as on 'Honeysuckle Rose"), but not with me."

The first of five Broadway shows for which Blake wrote music was with Sissle. The two had been partners since 1915 in Blake's native Baltimore. Sissle had come there from Indianapolis and replaced Frank Brown, whose wife thought he was just too handsome to trust to the vaudeville stage and effected his retirement.

Blake calls Sissle "a great singing actor," although he became better known later as a lyricist. Blake moved to New York to join conductor James Reese Europe, who wanted a pianist who could play any song that might be requested. Europe wanted Sissle and Blake to write a show for Broadway. A drummer stabbed Europe in the neck and killed him. Sissle and Blake continued without him.

Their show, "Shuffle Along," opened in 1921, Blake says. "Ever since 1915 we were up and down Broadway trying to get our music published. We only wrote three songs for 'Shuffle Along'—'Love Will Find a Way,' 'If You've Never Been Vamped by a Brown Skin' and 'Gypsy Blues.' You wrote 28 songs for a show. We just put in 25 songs they said wasn't good enough to publish all those years."

One of those songs was "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

"Shuffle Along" became Broadway's first long-running all-black musical.

Blake also wrote the music for "Chocolate Dandies" and "Elsie" in 1924 and "Blackbirds of 1930." "The next one was a flop and I ain't going to tell you what it was. But Victor Herbert wrote a flop, too, you know."

Other Blake songs are "Love Will Find a Way," "Memories of You" and "You Were Meant for Me."

He continues to make records and sells them by mail.

Blake's first wife died in 1930; they had been married 31 years. He married his present wife, Marian, in 1945. This summer, after performing two concerts in one evening at the Newport Jazz Festival, he visited his hometown, Baltimore.

"You know, when Marian's away from me, I'm nothing," he says. "I went to Baltimore by myself and I had a good time but I missed her." In July they went to Oslo and Copenhagen for Blake to perform and be on TV.

James Hubert—the middle name became Eubie—Blake was born in Baltimore Feb. 7, 1883. His mother wouldn't let him play ragtime in the house because she thought it was the devil's music. His father told him not to hold a man's color against him. "And if anybody had a right to be prejudiced it should be him, because both my mother and father had been slaves. But color don't mean a thing to me; it's just if you treat me right."

But Blake doesn't spend time worrying about people who wronged him or about getting old or about the fact that friends like Razaf, Sissle and Cole Porter have died. He's interested in what's going on now, unless he's asked about the past.

Good Sewing News

By JOANNE SCHREIBER

The most important single fashion for fall is the three-tiered skirt. Soft, flaring and flattering, it's to be worn with gentle ladylike blouses and the new shorter velvet jackets.

For home sewers, there's good news from manufacturer offering three-tiered skirt early in October.

A 25-inch shirred elastic waist makes it possible to fit sizes 6 through 14. All you have to do is sew one seam, adjust the length if necessary, and the skirt is finished—in less than 15 minutes.

The skirt lengths are permanently pleated and completely machine washable. Fabrics are all dacron, or a blend of 80 per cent dacron with 20 per cent wool, in the pretty challis-like prints which are such a great part of the fall fashion picture. These skirt lengths retail from $22 to $24 each.

This kind of instant sewing became popular this summer when instant sundresses turned up in fabric stores. These were made from lengths of fabric which had been shirred with elastic thread along the top 12 inches. The elastic section formed the basis of the sundress, and the skirt released softly from the shirring. It could be worn strapless, or the sewer could make straps from ribbons.

Ideally, a tiered skirt is composed either of three equal sections or of graduated sections with the top section narrower than the middle section which is, in turn, narrower than the bottom. If you are very short and find that the present skirt is going to require such shortening that the proportions of the skirt are unattractively changed, then you may prefer to make your own triple-tiered skirt from a couple of yards of fabric.

Measure your finished skirt length and divide by three, for equal tiers. If your skirt length is 27 inches, cut three tiers 9 inches wide, plus one-half inch seam allowance on each edge. For graduated tiers, subtract one inch from the top tier and add one inch to the bottom tier. For a 27-inch skirt, the tiers would be 8, 9 and 10 inches wide—plus necessary seam allowances. Each tier should be half again the length of the tier above. If you are petite, with a 34-inch top hip measure, the tiers might be cut 36, 34 and 31 inches long. Gather the top of each tier to fit the lower edge of the tier above it. Join all three tiers. Then sew the single side seam. Gather the waist and stitch to a waistband. You can make the tiers of different but coordinating fabrics. You can add eyelet or other trim to the hem. You can make a matching scarf or shawl. Be first in fashion this fall—with a triple-tier skirt.

Small Outlay For Doll Brings Large Returns

Auction Purchase

FOITUNA, N.D. (AP) — Ten years ago Judy Clark thought she was getting a bargain when she bought an old doll at an auction for only 25 cents.

Though the doll turned out to be damaged, that purchase has since proved to have been a good investment.

"I've already made more than $1,000 this year making and dressing dolls in my free time," said Mrs. Clark, whose hobby is a doll maker stems from the one she acquired in that dusty antique store.

When she examined it closely she discovered that the doll had a broken nose. But rather than throw it away or resell it, she decided to mend it herself.

"I've made or dressed close to 200 dolls since I repaired that first broken nose," declares Mrs. Clark, whose husband, Air Force T. Sgt. Jim Clark, is assigned to the 780th Radar Squadron, Fortuna Air Force Station here.

Mrs. Clark, who works full time at the station as the Publications Distribution and Housing Officer, now spends much of her spare time making and collecting dolls. She has one that was made in the 1890s and five others that date back to the turn of the century.

"Dolls from that era are usually worth several hundred dollars, depending on their condition and scarcity," she says.

Many of her dolls she constructs from scratch by pouring porcelain into molds to form the head and body, then adding glass eyes and wigs and dressing them.

"It seems like I've spent a fortune on 'do-it-yourself' books since I first bought that injured doll," Mrs. Clark says. "One of the first things I did was join a doll-collectors' club, which had about 3,000 members. Eventually I learned to dress dolls for other people in exchange for kits which contained heads, arms and legs to use in making dolls for my own collection."

A few years later, when the Clarks were assigned to Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Mrs. Clark enrolled in a porcelain and china-painting course at the base ceramics shop. "Shortly after that, I bought some molds and then really got into doll making," recalls the native of Bishop, Calif.

Mrs. Clark notes that although doll making is practically a lost art, it has experienced a recent revival.

"There are close to 3,000 people who make dolls as a hobby in the United States," she says. "Though doll collecting isn't considered that popular, virtually every youngster has at least one doll in the toybox. And just look at the number of adults who still have their first doll tucked away or on display."

Mrs. Clark says the majority of her dolls as fast as she can make them, most of them to an exclusive doll shop in California. "But I sell some dolls on a special-order basis," she says. Her going retail rate averages $55.

Colors Tell About Traits

Most people have a favorite color, and those who claim they do not are "insecure — afraid to reveal their inner selves," according to Dr. Deborah T. Sharpe, a psychologist who is an expert on color.

In the current issue of Redbook's Be Beautiful, Dr. Sharpe says that color preferences are directly related to the emotions and matches a number of colors to specific personality traits.

— Red: "Red people are constantly starting things, going off on tangents, taking chances. They're impulsive as well as creative but not great achievers without a balancing influence. They tend to have strong likes and dislikes. Red people should work for a blue or green person and marry a man who likes blue or green."

— Green: "Different shades belong to different personalities. Bright Kelly green is a person who is exciting. Middle, institutional green is a practical, bland person, eager to improve herself. A rich hunter's green bespeaks a social, elegant person, somewhat snobbish."

— Blue: "This is the color of stability. No rampant emotions here. The blue person is conservative, an achiever who recognizes ability and creativity for what they are worth."

— Brown: "The brown personality is thrifty and industrious. Browns make excellent mates for the red person. And brown and blue are unbeatable together. Women who like brown make the best wives."

Contrary to what you might think, you don't choose your own favorite color, explains Dr. Sharpe. "It's a developmental, genetic phenomenon that emerges the way one's personality does," she comments. "Change your personality, and your color tastes will change, too."

Serving as his brother's best man was Robert Grannell. Ushers were Kirk Hansen, brother of the bride, John Cooke, Michael Eschelback, Roman Kulich and Jim Mandarino.

A reception was held at Benton Harbor Knights of Columbus Hall.

Following a wedding trip to northeast Pennsylvania, the couple will reside in Farmington.

The bride is a graduate of Berrien Springs high school and Taylor university. She has been a middle school teacher in Eau Claire. She was Miss Southwest Michigan and Miss Michigan 1976.

The groom is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and Michigan State university and is a third year student at MSU's Osteopathic Medical school.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Barracks Bag Bites Back

Dear Ann Landers: In a recent column someone complained about the state troopers in Connecticut and Massachusetts not being on the job. The person who wrote said he was traveling from Boston to Hartford, Conn., at 55 miles an hour and unimpaired cars passed him. I can't answer for Connecticut, but I can tell you where the Massachusetts state troopers are. Since they have not received a raise in salary since 1969, they are probably out working an extra detail to pay for a home or their kid's education.

So, blow that out your barracks bag, Annabelle. — Also Disgruntled

Dear Grunt: Sorry, Buster, I checked with Boston's able mayor, Kevin White, and double-checked with that great governor of Connecticut, Ella Grasso. Their responses knocked your "facts" cranked.

Mayor White reported that in December of 1973, the Massachusetts state troopers' base pay was increased to $10,327 with a maximum of $12,745 after six years of service. At this moment arbitration is going on relevant to a future contract which will include another increase. Hopefully by the time this letter appears in print, they will have received it.

Ella Grasso reported that in 1969, the Connecticut state troopers earned $7,700 and they now earn $13,163. This means they have had seven raises in an eight-year period. Next time, before you tell anyone to blow it out their barracks bag, make sure you know what you're talking about.

Landers' Law

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this problem, and suggest a solution.

I am planning a celebration and want to invite the whole family — both sides. My niece and he doesn't want her to even know where he lives. His sister shares his resentment. I love this girl who has done nothing to me. I also love her dad. I want her at this affair. I want her dad, too. If I do not invite her, I will feel like a hypocrite.

Thank you for any help you can give me. I read your column every day. — Torn And Tormented

Dear T. and T.: Landers' Law Pertaining to Relatives at War is as follows: Invite whoever you want. Anyone who says, "I won't come if you ask So-and-So," should be told, "Sorry we'll miss you."

Dear Ann: I love flowers and plants and have cultivated a breathtakingly beautiful fern. It is very large and frilly. Why do some people feel they must run their hands through a plant? It injures and breaks the fronds. A fern (or any other specimen of flora for that matter) does not like to be handled.

May I add my own 11th Commandment? "Thou shalt not fondle the neighbor's fern, nor her cat nor her dog, nor her husband, nor anything else that belongs to her." — Irked in

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — When I was in college I had an abortion. I'm Rh negative and my boyfriend was Rh positive. I had the operation in my sixth week with no complications.

Now about five years later my husband who is Rh negative and I am interested in starting a family. I'm concerned about the effect of the abortion on a future pregnancy.

Is there any reason I should consult a doctor before we start trying for a child? If so, what could be done?

DEAR READER — You've got a lot going for you. An Rh negative mother may develop a sensitivity to Rh positive blood of the baby but the baby has to be Rh positive and the sensitization doesn't start until the baby is about two months along. If you had an abortion at six weeks that should be too early to sensitize you. Incidentally, in pregnancies that have gone longer and ended in an abortion, even if it is spontaneous, the doctor can give an Rh immune globulin within 72 hours and help to protect the woman from developing the sensitivity.

Now for the really good news. We all have two genes to determine whether we are Rh positive or negative. The Rh positive gene is dominant. That means that anyone who tests out as Rh negative has two Rh negative genes and cannot transmit anything but Rh negative genes. So if you and your husband are both Rh negative neither of you can transmit Rh positive genes and all of your children will be Rh negative. In that case you will not develop a reaction to any of them. The problem only occurs when the baby is Rh positive and the mother is Rh negative.

Any woman who is O negative should be certain about her husband's blood type. If there is any chance at all that the husband has Rh positive genes the doctors can be prepared to treat the mother at delivery if she has an Rh positive baby to protect her from becoming sensitized.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 6-4 Blood Type, Rh Factor and Transfusions, for your information. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a woman 30 years old. I wear hard contact lenses. I've worn them for two years now. I have bags under my eyes and I just can't get rid of them. I didn't notice the bags before when I wore regular glasses, so, do you think the contacts are causing them? Would soft contact lenses make them go away or do you know of some other way?

DEAR READER — No. Contact lenses, hard or soft, have nothing to do with bags under your eyes. You may be able to see the area now for the first time since you can see plainly without regular glasses and the frames obscuring that area.

If you really have significant bags under the eyes, the probability at your age is that they are fat pads. We all have a natural fat pad under the lower eyelid. Cosmetic surgeons can remove them surgically but unless they are really significant I would think you should just ignore them.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

The trump echo is a method of signaling by the defense to give partner a count on the number of trumps held. Specifically, the echo or play of high low in trumps shows possession of a third trump, the normal trump play shows two or four.

Assuming that West gets off to the lead of his singleton six of hearts, the trump echo makes it easy to defeat the nearly ironclad spade game.

East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and leads back a heart. West ruffs and shifts to his deuce of diamonds.

South tops East's king with the ace and leads his nine of trumps. East is in with the ace for the third defense trick and has to decide between the lead of a heart for partner to ruff and the lead of a diamond that would go to partner's held that nice card.

The trump echo tells East that there is no guess. West ruffs the first heart with the four and follows to the first trump lead with his three spot to show three trumps. East gives his partner a ruff and everyone is happy except North and South.

White Anklelets Are Back

Mothers of America! You have been given one more chance to be fashion pacemakers.

White anklelets are back! They've been seen throughout Europe being worn with high-heeled shoes. I know it is only a matter of time before Princess Grace, Queen Elizabeth, Jackie Onassis and Barbara Walters are schlepping around in them.

Before you shake your head and say, "No, it'll never work," let me assure you I went through the same humiliation route with white anklelets that you went through back in the '40s and '50s. I too was maligned by my family.

My sons self-destructed before my very eyes once when I appeared in white anklelets on the playground. My husband said they made my legs look like tree stumps, and one day when a friend of my daughter's came to the house to play she said, "What team does your mother play for?"

We let them shame us into giving up our white socks. And what did we get in return? Pantyhose. You have to be in shape to wear pantyhose. Just ask Joe Namath. I personally never put on a pair of pantyhose without thinking I got a pair that was hatched prematurely and needed another few months in the egg.

Ah, the good old days of white anklelets. They never sprung a run... never slid down over your hips when you coughed... never cut off circulation when you crossed your legs. White socks went with everything, winter and summer. And you never had cracked heels.

Remember the warm, fuzzy feeling you had in white socks? Critics are the first to point out how ridiculous they looked. Sour grapes. Have you ever seen yourself standing in front of the mirror in a pair of knee-highs and a pair of glasses?

The trouble with Mothers is they are never the pacemakers of anything. They borrow a few T-shirts and jeans from their sons. Klutzy shoes and funky blouses from their daughters. Sweaters from their husbands and a few dresses from their mothers. But they do not have one style that is exclusive, unique, and theirs alone.

The white socks could do it for us. It could establish Mothers as trendsetters. What have you got to lose — except your ankles.

Have you got the guts?

ZERO MOSTEL
A Painter, Too

Mirthful Mostel Dies At 62

NEW YORK (AP) — Zero Mostel once observed:

"The theater is like a cathedral — I mean a shul (synagogue). At the end of it, there's a cup of tea."

Solemnity and mirth were never far apart for Mostel, who died of heart failure Thursday in Philadelphia at Thomas Jefferson University Hospital. He was 62. The marmoset actor always seemed to be exploiting his talent as if running a rummage sale at Tiffany's.

"I don't give a damn about images," he replied when asked how a man of formidable stage feats who also was a painter who could get $11,000 for a picture, could take time out to pose nude in a bathtub with an unclad nymph for Playboy magazine. "How can you be an artist if you worry about images?"

Mostel was more than a natural crowd-pleaser and jovian merry-maker. Behind the facade was a sentimental, deeply dedicated and canny savorer of life.

"I feel very sad about the whole thing because I was a very good friend. He was one of the big talents, he could make you laugh, he could make you cry," said comic Milton Berle who was reached in Los Angeles.

"I used to say to him you're carrying around too much weight Zero, you can't put 10 people in a four-passenger car. I think that finally took its toll, combined with the energy he poured into his performance. He worked like a dog."

Teacher Walkouts Cramp 112,000 Students

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
One teacher strike ended but another began in Michigan Thursday, and a top official of the state's largest teacher union said more labor difficulties were likely in the weeks ahead.

Teachers in the Detroit suburb of Birmingham returned to work under a threat of mass firing, but their colleagues in nearby West Bloomfield walked out despite a similar threat of dismissal.

Herman W. Coleman, executive director of the Michigan Education Association, said he expected more walkouts in coming weeks.
Some 112,000 pupils in nine Michigan school districts are affected by the strikes. State Board of Education figures put the number of teachers on strike at 5,237.

The state board said teachers in 171 of the state's 530 districts had neither ratified contracts nor reached tentative agreements. All except those in the pine districts were working, however.
Also shut down were schools in Flint, whose 40,000 students and 1,800 teachers made it by far the largest district hit by a walkout; Southfield; Highland Park; Madison Heights; Waterford; Dexter; Davison and Bay City.

The 643 members of the Birmingham Education Association accepted by what executive committee members said was a "large majority" a committee recommendation to return to work.

Jerry Haymond, a member of the committee, said the recommendation was made because the committee "hesitated to place teachers in such jeopardy." Also, he said, firings would have distracted attention from the real issue — a fair, new contract.

In West Bloomfield, teachers, who worked all last year without a contract, attended preparation sessions Tuesday and Wednesday but voted not to work.
Boards of education in both communities sent teachers letters, Birmingham by mail and West Bloomfield by hand at Wednesday's orientation sessions.

Michigan law prohibits strikes by public employees, although they do strike from time to time.

The Birmingham letter directing teachers to report to class said: "Be assured the board will take the steps necessary to effect the discharge of any teachers who fail to comply with this directive."
In West Bloomfield the teachers were told: "If you participate in this strike, you are subject to discipline, including termination of your employment."

Birmingham has 13,514 pupils and West Bloomfield 5,600 with 290 teachers.
Meanwhile, Coleman said he expected a strike by 114 employees of the MEA's own service staff — janitors, secretaries and the like — to last quite some time. "I hope for some good news but there are no clues yet," he said.

Amin Reported In Coma; Radio Uganda Is Silent

By PHILIP DOPOLIS
Associated Press Writer
NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Radio Uganda made no mention today of President Idi Amin's condition despite a report Thursday from one of his chief aides that the Ugandan dictator was in a coma after undergoing surgery.

The main item on the government's first news broadcast of the morning reminded the public that "15 Ugandans will be executed in public today by firing squad at the clock tower in Kampala," the Ugandan capital.

The condemned men were convicted of plotting against Amin.

The suspicion was growing in Nairobi that Amin's reported coma was another hoax, like the false report last June that he was flying to London for the Commonwealth Conference in defiance of the British government's announcement that he

Reports from Kampala said the local television station showed an operation being performed on Amin in the neck area. The station's program director, when asked if the telecast was live or had been filmed some time ago, laughed and replied: "Ask the minister of Information."

Amin is known to have been hospitalized on five previous occasions for medical attention since he seized power in 1971. A nurse at Kampala's Mulago Hospital, reached by telephone from Nairobi, said Amin was no longer in his room.

"As far as I know," she said, "he has been transferred to an island retreat on Lake Victoria, but I'm not sure."

The report that Amin was in a coma came from Maj. Robert Astles, a British-born Ugandan citizen who is one of his closest confidants.

After a radio report that Amin had undergone surgery, Astles told a reporter who telephoned him from Nairobi that he didn't "exactly know" what was wrong with the 51-year-old military strongman.

Appeals Court Upholds No-Fault Divorce Law

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's no-fault divorce law has been upheld as constitutional, and parole rules for chronic criminals have been tightened slightly by the state Court of Appeals.

In separate cases, the court Thursday overturned a lower court decision that the divorce law was unconstitutional. And it said a defendant sentenced as a "habitual offender" cannot be released on parole before serving his minimum sentence without approval of the judge who sentenced him. Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Arthur Moore ruled the 1971 divorce law unconstitutional because, he said, it violated the rights of the couple's children.

The appeals court noted there were no minor children in the divorce case which Moore heard, so he raised the issue on his own. Moore ordered that the divorce complaint of Charles Cowser against his wife Lillian be tried under previous law. He denied the divorce after learning the couple, married 35 years, had engaged in sex one time after the complaint was filed and a year before the trial began.

The appeals court rejected both decisions, and sent the case back to him to be decided under the no-fault law. Under that law, divorce is granted if it is shown the marriage has broken down and has no reasonable chance of being preserved. In upholding the no-fault law's constitutionality, the appeals court cited unsuccessful challenges to a similar law in California.

And, it said, a divorce should not be blocked just because the couple had one sexual interlude before separating.

"We would hold that a marriage is based on more than just sex, so that an isolated instance of sexual intercourse occurring after the commencement of a divorce action but more than one year prior to trial is not, in and of itself, sufficient basis to deny a divorce under the 'no-fault' divorce statute," the court said. In the parole case, the court handed a victory to Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, who challenged the release of Edward Trudeau.

Trudeau was convicted in 1968 of breaking and entering and second degree murder. The convictions were set aside in 1971, and he was tried again and convicted of breaking and entering and manslaughter. In 1973, he was judged an "habitual offender" and sentenced to 12 to 40 years in prison, retroactive to 1968. The state parole board, however, computed his good time and "special good time" acquired in prison, and Trudeau was released in 1973. Patterson filed suit, claiming the habitual offender law required the written approval of Circuit Court Judge Frederick Ziem, who sentenced Trudeau as a chronic offender, if Trudeau was to be released before his minimum sentence was up.

The appeals court said the "good time" law and habitual offender law "are in apparent conflict." But it ruled that a prisoner sentenced as a habitual offender may not be released on parole before serving his minimum sentence without written consent of the judge.

JFK Aide O'Donnell Dies At 53

BOSTON (AP) — Kenneth P. O'Donnell, one of the most trusted and influential members of the Irish corps of political confidants of President John F. Kennedy, died today of an undisclosed ailment. He was 53.

O'Donnell, who was also known as "Kenny," was appointments secretary throughout the Kennedy administration and later served as aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson.

He had been hospitalized since Aug. 11 at Beth Israel Hospital.

Doctors declined to discuss O'Donnell's illness at the request of his family.

O'Donnell was a member of Kennedy's inner circle during every major decision from choosing the cabinet to the Cuban missile crisis.

As appointments secretary, he had almost absolute say over who got in to see Kennedy.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said O'Donnell had more influence in shaping important decisions than anyone else.

"From my view," Salinger said, "O'Donnell had the greatest responsibility, influence and accessibility to the president."

Instant Lottery Shifts To 'Cards'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A new instant lottery "card game" has been announced by the Bureau of State Lottery.

Called "Three of a Kind," the game works by matching three of six "cards," on a lottery ticket.

The player rubs the waxy surface off the six images of playing cards to see if he has three matching cards. Prizes range from $10,000 for three aces to a free ticket for three "nines."

Other prizes are $1,000 for kings, $100 for queens, $10 for jacks and $2 for tens.

The joker is considered a wild card that could be combined with two other matching cards for a win.

The new game begins Tuesday.

Nearly 55 million tickets have been printed for the game, the bureau's marketing director said. Jim Culver said the game should earn revenues "in excess of $20 million."

Culver also said the bureau's daily lottery game "is going very well. Sales are increasing steadily."

The number of ticket agents is expected to increase to around 500 in the next few weeks, he said, with agents added in Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo. The bureau now has about 300 agents.

Meanwhile, a baldheaded man nicknamed "Curly" won top prize of $105,000 in the weekly Michigan Lottery Thursday night in Detroit and said he hoped to be back for 10 more appearances.

Realous Collins, 46, of West Bloomfield said he would "put the money in the bank while I think it over for a while."

Explaining his nickname, the father of three children said that as a boy he had lots of curly hair but that it disappeared in the intervening years.

RONNIE AND NANCY: Ronald Reagan and wife Nancy meet reporters at National Press Club luncheon in Washington Thursday. Reagan, former governor of California, appeared before Senate subcommittee earlier in opposition to Panama Canal treaty. (AP Wirephoto)

Canal Treaty Foes Loading Big Guns

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Conservative foes of the new Panama Canal treaty are beginning their campaign to crystallize public opinion against Senate ratification of the pact.

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., the new spokesman for Senate treaty opponents, planned to outline for reporters today the strategy a coalition of conservative groups will use with lawmakers and the public.

Sources said the drive will be three-pronged, emphasizing the human rights record of Panama's strongman, Brig. Gen. Omar Torrijos; the security of the canal; and the financial arrangements between the United States and Panama.

Conservative spokesmen have cited a finding by Freedom House, a New York-based organization, that Panama ranks at the bottom among Latin American countries in its observance of human rights and civil liberties.

They said this human rights question is one on which President Carter may be especially vulnerable, having made that issue a cornerstone of his foreign policy.

On the canal's security, one of the coalition's prime spokesmen, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, said Thursday that, if the United States were at war, her enemies would have equal access to the canal.

The sources said the conservative push to prevent Senate ratification next year will concentrate on Republicans and some Southern Democrats who either favor the treaty or haven't made up their minds.

They said Laxalt, who headed Reagan's presidential primary campaign last year, was selected to lead this drive because he is felt to have more clout than Sens. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who until now have been the leading Senate spokesmen for treaty opponents.

While Laxalt tries to marshal Senate opposition, the conservative coalition is putting together a public appeal involving a direct mail blitz and radio, television and newspaper advertising.

Plans call for three million to five million pieces of mail to go out over the next two months, with the first 800,000 next week.

Among the groups are the American Conservative Union, the Young Republicans, Young Americans for Freedom, the Conservative Caucus and the Committee for the Survival of a Free Congress.

In addition, the coalition intends to use prominent lawmakers and other public figures in a series of personal appearances.

Reagan told a National Press Club audience Thursday that he intends to do everything he can to help the anti-treaty campaign, but other sources said his personal appearances may be limited because "he is concerned about becoming the center of attention and wants to keep the focus on the foreign policy issue."

Reagan, who first raised the canal treaty as an issue in last year's presidential campaign, sounded some of the conservative coalition's main themes in testifying Thursday before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

He said the treaty, which actually includes two agreements, represents a "retreat" by the United States in its foreign policy.

He also stressed an argument that is gaining status among some lawmakers — that Senate ratification alone is not enough.

This argument says the Constitution requires that disposal of U.S. property in the Canal Zone be approved by both houses of Congress.

Gov. Milliken's '78 Campaign Underway?

By Larry McDermott
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Speculation that Gov. William Milliken will remain in politics next year was heightened Thursday when a film crew hired by his press secretary with the backing of the state Republican Party made a visit to a Ford assembly plant that looked like the start of a campaign.

Milliken, host of the 88th annual National Governors' Conference here this week, drove to the Ford assembly plant in suburban Dearborn Thursday afternoon. Two television film crewmen and a photographer recorded his every move, including shaking hands with workers.

The filming was done despite orders from Ford security officials to reporters and photographers on the same tour that no pictures could be taken inside the plant.

At Sandner, the governor's press secretary, denied the filming of Milliken greeting auto workers and inspecting 1978 Ford Mustangs as they moved along the assembly line was politically motivated.

"It's nothing new. The governors' conference is a big deal for us. It's the first one in Detroit and the first time for the governor," Sandner said. Milliken will assume chairmanship of the NGC today.

Sandner said, however, that he could not recall ever hiring a film crew before to record Milliken in such a campaign-style setting.

The Republican governor repeatedly has said he hasn't decided whether to seek reelection, run for the U.S. Senate seat being vacated by Robert Griffin, or retire. The latter choice is considered nearly remote by Milliken's political confidants.

Sandner said the decision to hire the film crew was his, not Milliken's.

Milliken's press secretary said he hadn't decided exactly how the film would be used.

Asked who was paying for the filming, Sandner said, "Right now I don't know where I'm going to find the money. Bill McLaughlin told me when I approached him about the idea that he'd help find the right way to finance it."

McLaughlin, chairman of the state GOP, was at the conference but could not be reached for comment Thursday night.

Bob Berg, one of the governor's top aides, said either Milliken or the party would pay the bill.

Sandner said Milliken was not informed until after the plant tour. The photographers were told to shoot film of the governor throughout the three-day conference which ends today, he said.

Sandner said Milliken hasn't made up his mind yet about his political future. The governor is expected to disclose his plans by Nov. 1.

Considerable pressure is on him to seek a third term because, for the Republican Party, he is the mainstay in a state capital dominated by Democrats.

Potts Twins Are 75 Now

Look-Alike Brothers Were Born In BH

Identical twins Leslie and Lester Potts celebrated their 75th birthday last month at Leslie's home at 449 Kublick drive, Fairplain.

From 1921 until 1940, they operated Potts Brothers Electric Co. in a building at the corner of Pipestone street and Britain avenues, Benton Harbor. Leslie said the building is gone now.

In 1940, Leslie went to South Bend and Lester moved to Lansing, where they continued their careers as electricians. They are both retired now, and Lester lives in Flint.

They were born Aug. 19, 1902, to Louis and Maude (Lester) Potts. The Potts, who had no other children, were living on Superior street, just north of Empire avenue, in Benton Harbor, when the twins were born, according to Leslie.

Louis Potts was a factory worker and, later, an interior decorator in Benton Harbor, and Maude Potts was a nurse at Mercy hospital. As youngsters, Leslie and Lester were carrier boys for the Benton Harbor News-Palladium, Leslie said.

Leslie and his wife, Mildred, have no children. Leslie has two sons, Leslie Jr. of Chicago and Russell of Reno, Nev., by a former marriage with Lisa Godfrey Potts, now of Salt Lake City, Utah.

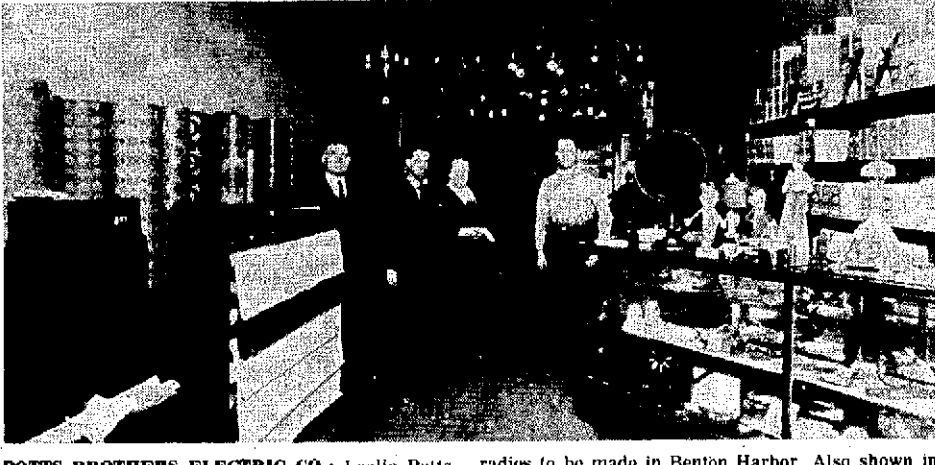

Lester and his wife, Mary, have two daughters: Beverly of Mesa, Ariz., and Phyllis of Byron, Ohio.

1940s: Leslie Potts (left) said he and twin brother Lester posed for this photograph in St. Joseph in the early 1940's. Photo was probably taken during a visit sometime after they closed their electrical business and moved from the Twin City area.

radios to be made in Benton Harbor. Also shown in 1921 photo are J. Allen Godfrey (left) who ran a window shade and floor covering business in the Potts Brothers' building, and an unidentified woman who was a bookkeeper for the brothers.

75th BIRTHDAY: Leslie (left) and Lester Potts were together again last month when they celebrated their 75th birthday at Leslie's Fairplain home. Lester lives in Flint. The brothers are retired electricians.

School Board Adopts Energy-Saving Steps

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Four projects aimed at saving energy were approved by the Berrien Springs school board last night.

The projects were: installation of electric hot water heaters in Mars elementary school and the high school, so boilers will not have to be operated in September and May, when heat is not needed.

Replacement of all 40 watt fluorescent light tubes in the middle school and high school with 35 watt GE Mini-miser tubes. The old tubes will be sold through the business office.

Renovation of existing boilers in Mars elementary, and replacement of lights in the high school gym with lower-watt bulbs.

The total cost of the projects was estimated at $11,181. The expected 15 per cent reduction in energy use will save the school system at least $18,789 yearly, according to figures reported by Stanley Macklin, assistant superintendent.

In other areas, the board decided to continue the temporary assignment of school personnel to crossing guard duty for an unspecified time. Robin Campbell, principal of Mars elementary, reported that no applications have been received this year for the positions.

The school system has asked the Berrien Springs village-

Oronoko township police commission to aid in conducting traffic surveys to determine where crossing guards are needed; in the recruitment, training and supervision of guards; and in consideration of an ordinance enabling crossing guards to legally stop traffic.

School officials are to meet with the police commission next week to discuss these proposals. The school board accepted the low bid from the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan on an operational one-year loan not to exceed $500,000. The 3.38 per cent interest rate will cost the school system $16,185.

The resolution was adopted approving membership in the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA). Membership was automatic until this year.

Jon Schuster, superintendent of schools, said that preliminary enrollment data indicates there will be an increase in permanent students this year. Exact figures will not be available until after the Sept. 30 fourth Friday count.

All bids for purchase of a school-owned car and three buses were rejected as too low. The board will seek new bids at a later date.

Mrs. Betty Bennett was named representative from the school board to the Greater Berrien Springs Park and Recreation board. She replaces James Bethek, whose term on the school board expired in June of this year.

The board raised the top salary for bus mechanics from $12,200 to $12,500. The beginning salary was set at $7,800.

An adjustment was also made in school lunch prices because of a state recommendation that the adult price be set at least 25 cents above the highest student price. Adult prices were set at 80 cents. The cost for students in grades one through three was left at 50 cents, and for grades four through 12, at 35 cents.

The annual budget hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 13, immediately before the regular board meeting.

The Oct. 6 informational meeting will be devoted to a discussion of vocational programs, Schuster said. Members of school boards are invited to the meeting which is to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the middle school, he said.

Vandals Hit Cars, Beach Equipment

Vandals struck three autos in Benton township and equipment at a Lincoln township beach, according to complaints filed Thursday with Twin City area police.

Tim Allerton, 557 Superior street, Benton Harbor, told Benton township police vandals tore the radio antenna and windshield wiper from his car while it was parked at 1992 Hatch street. Allerton also said said the upholstery of the car was damaged.

Berrien sheriff's officers reported a concrete table and chairs valued at $400 were smashed by vandals at Glenford beach located at the foot of Glenford road at Lake Michigan, Lincoln township. The beach is owned by the township.

Benton Harbor police reported three thefts of goods and cash totaling $340:

Coloma Schools To Take Loan To Meet Payroll

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night approved borrowing $130,000 to meet payroll costs until an expected state aid payment is received next month.

Supt. William Barrett said the loan would be taken at the end of September to meet the final monthly payroll and would be repaid once the state aid is received. The state aid payment is expected by Oct. 6.

The board approved borrowing the money from the First National Bank of Watervliet, at an interest rate of 3.2 per cent for the expected six-day term of the loan.

Barrett had hoped the state aid check would arrive in time to meet the payroll, but state officials told Barrett the check would not be mailed until Oct. 1 at the earliest.

In another area, the board voted to change its September meeting date from Monday, Sept. 12 to Tuesday, September 13. The change was made because Barrett would be out of town and unable to attend the meeting Monday night.

CONNECTION PUZZLES ARMY

World Calling Michigan Judge

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It's no surprise that a high-ranking judge would have a lot of connections, but Michigan Supreme Court Justice John Fitzgerald is too well connected to suit the U.S. Army.

Somehow, Fitzgerald's office phone got hooked up to a supposedly special military network called AUTOVON. It's strictly off limits to private citizens.

The judge has received phone calls from the White House, the Pentagon, military brass in Iceland, the Italian island of Sardinia and ships cruising in the Pacific.

The callers think they're reaching a Navy base in Naples, Italy.

"Some of these military people laugh, I mean belly laugh, over the fact that we are somehow hooked into their system," says Fitzgerald's secretary, Marianne Jones on Wednesday.

"They think they are reaching Naples, and at first they seem a little embarrassed when we tell them they have Lansing, Mich.," she said.

"But we've had wonderful conversations and first-hand weather reports from all over the world."

An Army colonel in Arlington, Va., when told the calls have been coming into the judge's office since August 1976, said:

"Oh, jeez!"

That was Col. John Nolan, chief of the AUTOVON Operations Branch in the Defense Communications Agency, who says "The judge shouldn't be getting those calls."

AUTOVON is Army shorthand for Automatic Voice Network, a centralized, worldwide telephone network for military bases and other government offices which uses circuits leased from Ma Bell.

The last five digits of Fitzgerald's number — 3-0123 — are the same as the Naples base number, but a Michigan Bell Telephone Co. spokesman says that doesn't explain the problem.

Nolan and Bell officials say they will place a "tracer" on the judge's phone to figure out the problem.

Bell says the mixup is apparently an threat to national security.

"It's an important line," the Bell spokesman says, "but it's not the hotline to Moscow or anything like that."

BH POLICE HUNT 2 MEN

Benton Shooting Victim Dies

By BOB NORTHWAY
Staff Writer

A Benton township man died in Mercy hospital last night after he was shot while fleeing two men in a backyard on the 200 block of Fair avenue, Benton Harbor police said.

Northern Dorsey Williams, 30, of 157 Walnut avenue, died in the hospital emergency room at 9 p.m., about an hour after he was wounded by a shotgun blast, Detective Sgt. Elmer Rhodes reported.

Williams became the seventh homicide victim of 1977 in Benton Harbor — the same number as recorded for all of 1976.

According to Rhodes, witnesses reported Williams was chased by two men from the intersection of Fair and Terri-trail road and ran behind a house at 228 Fair where he was shot, Rhodes said Williams was shot in the upper right portion of his back.

The victim crawled to the sidewalk in front of the house,

Rhodes reported, but then collapsed and was found there by police.

Rhodes said police were seeking two men who ran from the scene after Williams was shot. Rhodes reported officers found a .410 shotgun believed used in the 8 p.m. shooting.

Rhodes said police believe

Williams probably knew his assailants and that the shooting may have been the result of an old feud.

Williams' address listed by police is the same as a house on Walnut avenue which burned Tuesday morning.

Mr. Williams was born June 12, 1947, in Napoleonville, La., and had resided in the area four years.

Surviving are his widow,

Cora; two daughters, Doris and Anagato; a son, Northern Jr.; two sisters, Bessie Williams and Mrs. Ruby Thomas; a step sister, Gloria Dorsey, all of Napoleonville; three step brothers, Will Rodgers, Tyrone and Jerry Dorsey, all of Napoleonville.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at the Robbins Brothers funeral home, Benton Harbor.

Shot Fired In Air Ends Bar Brawl

State police from the Benton Harbor post said a Millburg bar owner fired two shots in the air early today in an effort to quell a disturbance which erupted in his tavern and spilled into the street.

Trooper Joe VanOosterhout said Joe Sax, owner of a bar on Territorial road in Millburg, fired a handgun outside the bar to break up a brawl between two groups of men.

One man was struck by a beer bottle, another with a cue ball, and a third was beaten, in the brawl, VanOosterhout said, but all declined treatment.

The officer said the alleged assaults, were not at the scene when police arrived and the injured men did not wish to sign complaints against them. The injured departed before their names were obtained.

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Millburg man arrested after police were led on a high speed chase in Berrien and Van Buren counties last Friday was sentenced Thursday in Seventh district court to serve two concurrent 70 day jail sentences.

FATAL ON OLD TEN

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — Randy Phillips, 22, of Sanford in Midland County was killed and another man injured in a car-truck crash on old U.S. 10 Thursday night, state police said.

Claris Disterheft, of Park road, Pipestone township, suffered first and second degree burns when he attempted to enter the burning structure behind his parents' home, Eau Claire - Pipestone - Berrien township firemen reported.

Robert Fecho, fire department secretary, said no cause for the blaze has been determined, and there probably will be no ruling due to the extensive damage. He said the 40 by 60-foot building was destroyed too badly to make a determination.

He said, however, the fire started in the end of the structure where electric power lines enter the building. He also said that about one-half hour before the 4:25 p.m. blaze a man had been working in the building with an acetylene torch.

Firemen said the blaze caused gas and acetylene tanks and paint cans inside the building to explode, and Chris was burned when one of the paint containers doused the boy as he attempted to enter the structure. Fecho said firefighters talked with the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Disterheft, and were still unable to determine why he was trying to enter the building.

Horse Didn't Want To Be Led

VANDALIA — Sometimes a horse can't be led anywhere! Theron Laflin, 36, of Mondovi, Wis., found that out the hard way yesterday morning, according to Cass county sheriff's deputies.

Laflin was riding in the back of a pickup truck holding a chain attached to a horse when the horse stopped, jerking him from the truck, police reported. Chester Dash, route 2, Vandalia, was identified as the truck driver. Dash told police they were traveling along Quaker street northeast of here in Penn township about 8 a.m., when he looked into the rear view mirror and saw Laflin laying in the roadway.

Dash said he drove Laflin to his (Dash's) residence, but Laflin sought hospital treatment around 1:30 p.m. after complaining of head injuries, police said. Laflin was reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac.

The Senate panel scheduled more testimony on the Lanco case today, but members reportedly were split over whether to continue calling witnesses next week or wait for Lanco to testify.

Lanco is scheduled to appear before the panel next Thursday.

Meanwhile, pollster Louis Harris reported that Carter's job rating from the American people dropped to 44 per cent positive in August, a decline of 7 percentage points from July and 17 points from his April standing.

Harris said the poll of 1,491 adults, conducted between Aug. 13 and Aug. 20, showed Carter receiving a 40-to-53 per cent negative rating for his handling of the Lanco affair with 27 per cent undecided.

Carter said the drop in his popularity was due to a variety of domestic and international matters and that Lanco, a long-time friend, should have his hearing before Congress.

"There has never been any doubt in my mind that the outcome of these investigations will be not only proper but also will be well accepted by the American people," he said.

In testimony Thursday, Heilmann said Lanco's financial practices were not typical of bankers and that it was not correct that a report issued by the comptroller's office had cleared the former Georgia banker of improprieties.

Crash Kills Executives

SANFORD, N.C. (AP) — Three top officers of a Michigan firm and two other persons were killed Thursday night when their business jet exploded in midair and crashed shortly after takeoff, authorities said. The dead were identified as the plane's owner, Henry George, 51, and his wife, Effie, also 51, of Dryden, Mich.; Phillip Nester, 47, of Elkhart, Ind.; Leroy Southerland, 61, of Flint, Mich., and the pilot, Jimmy Taylor, 35, of Flint. George was chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Champion Home Builders of Dryden. Nester was an executive at the firm's Elkhart plant and Southerland was a top executive at the Dryden headquarters. Taylor was the company pilot. The eight-passenger Lear jet, bound for Flint, had just taken off from Sanford airport shortly after 8 p.m. when witnesses said it seemed to be in trouble and began to circle the sparsely populated Lee County area. The plane crashed about two miles northwest of the airport. State troopers at the crash scene said the plane had "disintegrated."

Hikers Discover Body

IRONWOOD, Mich. (AP) — Sheriff's officers, though awaiting an autopsy report, said today they were almost certain no foul play was involved in the death of a missing fisherman. A weeklong search for Charles Green, 77, of Ontonagon ended Thursday when two hikers found his body on a Lake Superior beach, between Black River and Presque Isle River. State police at the Wakefield post said the body was found about 10 miles from where Green was reported missing last Friday. He reportedly became separated from two fishing companions. Gogebic County Sheriff Chester Pechlusi said Green apparently became disoriented and walked through Presque Isle State Park to the spot where he was found.

105,000 Sign Petitions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State police troopers have 105,000 of the 266,000 signatures they need to place a collective bargaining proposal on next year's ballot. The Michigan State Police Troopers Association said Thursday it is stepping up its petition drive with 10 months to go to the deadline, and "remains confident" it will get the issue on the ballot and that it will be approved. The proposed constitutional amendment would permit troopers to engage in collective bargaining and provide for binding arbitration. Some 60,000 petitions are being distributed, the association said.

Kinross Opening Delayed

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — The new Kinross correctional facility, formerly Kinchloe Air Force Base, won't be ready for prisoners until November, a month later than planned, officials say. According to prison superintendent Barry Mentzes, the delay in the state's schedule to convert the base into a prison has been caused by slow fence construction. State prison authorities had hoped to begin housing prisoners at Kinross by October to help alleviate overcrowded prisons elsewhere.

Police Escort Ruled Out

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A landlord cannot be accompanied by a police officer when trying to evict a tenant, the state attorney general has ruled. And, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley says, it is illegal for a city police department to have a policy of providing such help. Kelley made his ruling in answer to a query from state Rep. Edgar Geerlings, R-Muskegon. Kelley said police assistance would violate the constitution, since the tenant will assume he is there to help the landlord. That would make the repossession of the property without due process, he said.

Pillbox, Pipe Used For ID

WYOMING, Mich. (AP) — Based upon a pillbox and bone pipe, police say bones found in the Grand River are those of a 26-year-old Wyoming fisherman missing more than one year. Detective Jack Barager said relatives identified the remains of Gary Pahnman by the items found in his trousers. Other fishermen found just a torso, one leg and the stump of the other when they spotted Pahnman's bones last weekend. Police said Pahnman had been missing since May 15, 1976. He last was seen fishing from a railroad bridge above the Grand River.

Now THAT's Recycling

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The 57-year-old Dearborn Iron Foundry, which turned out engine blocks for Model T Fords, is being demolished. The Ford Motor Co. foundry, part of the company's Rouge manufacturing complex, stopped production in 1974. Its operations were transferred to the Michigan Casting Center near Flint Rock. The foundry produced more than 50 million cast-iron engine blocks, among them the first Ford "flathead" V8 engine blocks in 1932. Ford will buy back some of the scrap metal from the demolished foundry and use it to make new car and truck components.

Group To Petition For Sand Mine Lid

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

BRIDGMAN — A group of Bridgman residents last night said they will begin a petition drive to try and limit sand mining operations in the city.

The petitions will be presented to the Bridgman city planning commission prior to the commission's scheduled Sept. 22 meeting.

The petition drive, along with a formal "purpose" for the group's formation, were approved by members of the recently formed Hope for the Dunes citizens' committee during the meeting last night.

The meeting drew about 50 people and was held at the Bridgman high school, according to Cherrill Siczek, the committee's secretary.

The group has joined the dispute between the city and Martin Marietta Aggregates over how much land the sand mining firm should be allowed to mine. The firm processes the sand and sells it for use in industrial foundry work.

The petitions to be circulated by the group will ask city officials to limit Martin Marietta's sand mining to "areas for which they (the firm) have a valid mining permit in the city," Mrs. Siczek said.

She said that would be about 27 acres.

The firm owns about 267 acres, of which it wants to mine 110.

Martin Marietta currently has approval from the planning commission and the city commission to mine 22.7 acres and has sought city approval to expand mining to another 28 adjacent acres.

The city went to court earlier this month and obtained a temporary restraining order that prevents the firm from mining the 28-acre parcel. Five days later, a circuit court judge amended the order to allow Martin Marietta to mine an additional five acres.

The city has claimed Martin Marietta must obtain planning commission approval each time it wants to expand mining to another parcel. Martin Marietta officials disagree.

The scheduled Sept. 22 meeting of the planning commission, for which the petitions are intended, will be a public hearing on the company's request to expand their operations from the present 22-acre site.

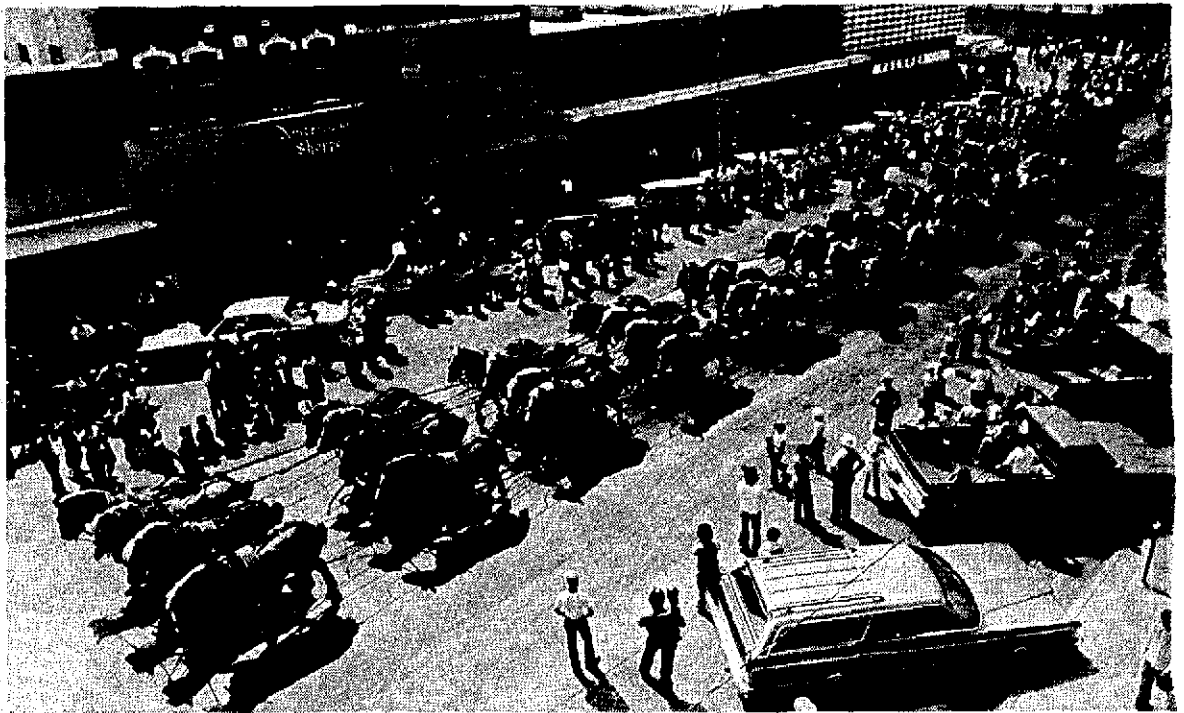

Mrs. Siczek said the citizens' committee last night also formally adopted a statement of purpose.

"The purpose of this organization is the preservation of the Bridgman dunes in their natural state because of their unique geological, ecological, botanical and aesthetic value and for present and future use of such dunes for recreational, educational purposes and as a wildlife habitat."

She said the group also formed several committees, among them a finance committee and a resource committee, members of which will get information from experts on animal, plant and insect life of a dunes area.

Besides Mrs. Siczek, other officers of the organization are Richard Walsh, president; Gary Barnes, vice president; and Paul Kierulff, treasurer.

All are residents of Bridgman.

Recall Suit Called Political Move

By STEVE McQUOWN
Assistant State Editor

NILES — Three members of a Niles township citizens' group have labeled as a "political move" a lawsuit filed against the group by six members of the Niles township board.

"In our opinion, the lawsuit payers' group and the township board.

The taxpayers' group has already forced the resignation of township Supervisor John Bundy in its petition drive to set up an Oct. 25 recall election for the entire board.

The remaining six members of the board Wednesday filed suit in Berrien circuit court asking that the recall election be blocked and asking for $10,000 damages each for the township board members.

A center point in the dispute is the controversial reassessment of property in the township.

Township board members in their suit said only the supervisor had the authority to accept the reassessment and that the reassessment has not been accepted.

But in their statement yesterday, the taxpayers' association said that:

— The assessment statements signed by Bundy were sent out in June on township stationery.

— The township board overrode Bundy when he wanted to throw out the tax assessment and went ahead and had "the hearings, letting the people believe they would accept them...."

— The taxpayers asked for and were promised by the township board a complete audit of the Niles township sewer system. "This has never become a reality and is a typical reason for our stand on the recall."

The statement also criticized the board for permitting the construction of a fuel oil storage system; accused the board of ignoring pending legislation that would freeze property assessments, and said that contrary to board claims, state law demands assessments are not to exceed 50 per cent of true cash value while the board has maintained assessments "must be at 50 per cent of true cash value."

Schiff is president of the taxpayers' group Mrs. Martindale the secretary and Brittin the treasurer.

Suit Blames Party For Youth's Death

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON

The owners of a Buchanan apartment complex have been named defendants in a Berrien Circuit court suit for allegedly furnishing intoxicants to a minor, who was later killed when struck by two vehicles while lying in a road.

The suit by Beverly J. Davidson, of Clear Lake Woods road, seeks $200,000 damages in connection with the death of her son, Craig Dale Davidson, 16. Named defendants were P.G. Schellmer & Co. of Niles, owners of the apartments, and John P. Warren, of South Bend, identified as the driver of a pickup truck which hit the boy.

State police reported Davidson was struck by two vehicles while apparently lying on Elm Valley road near his home about 1:30 a.m. Nov. 7, 1976. Officers said the pickup truck first hit the boy, and then a car driven by John Fislite, of South Bend, also struck him. Fislite was not named a defendant in the suit.

The suit claims Schellmer & Co. on the evening of Nov. 6 held a party at West Wind apartments in Buchanan to promote the apartments. The suit contends alcoholic beverages were served to Davidson, which the suit claims caused him to become "greatly intoxicated."

The suit maintains that as a result of the intoxication, Davidson "became unconscious on the roadway while walking to his home" and was struck by Warren's pickup truck.

Niles Man Wins FFA Award

NILES — Bruce D. Foster of 3701 M-140, Niles, has been announced as winner of the Central Region FFA Crop Production award, and as such will be one of four regional winners to be considered for national winner honors.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale R. Foster and is attending Southwestern Michigan college, Dowagiac. He is a graduate of Niles high school. The central region in which he was chosen embraces 12 states that form the nation's main agricultural region.

Foster was chosen on the basis of his farming operations which include a sizeable role in the grain and beef production on his family's farm, and complete management of 100 acres of fruit. His crops include corn, alfalfa, wheat, cherries, apples and grapes. Other parts of his farming include raising and showing beef cattle and operating three roadside apple stands.

He was winner of the state crop proficiency award last March, and will be considered for the national award during the national FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., in November

Lawrence School Tax Levy Upped 3.47 Mills

LAWRENCE — The Lawrence school board last night set the district's 1977-78 property tax levy at 30.23 mills, a 3.47-mill increase over last year.

The levy includes 8.58 unmortgaged mills, 17.5 extra voted mills and 4.15 mills for debt retirement. Voters had approved a 2.5 mill increase in the extra voted millage June 13.

Supt. Richard Stoll said the board raised the amount for debt retirement by .97 of a mill in order to make up for a loss in state aid caused by declining enrollment.

In personnel moves, the board appointed Dave Abel, as girls' junior varsity basketball coach and Randy Schau as girls' junior high basketball coach. Both are present staff members.

Stoll announced that a storage building behind the high school damaged by fire a month ago was fully covered by insurance.

He also said that seven high school completion classes are being offered at Lawrence this fall through the Paw Paw adult education program.

The board also voted to join the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

New Buffalo Township Approves Tar Sealing

NEW BUFFALO — The New Buffalo township board last night voted to have all private roads dug up during sewer installations tar sealed rather than covered with chloride.

It was the consensus of the board and residents that a tar sealing would have a longer lasting effect.

Supervisor Edward Ohlme said it would cost $8,000 for the 20,000 feet of township roads affected to be tar sealed. He said the cost would be paid through sewer contingency funds.

Ohlme also reported that corrections to wells that went dry following sewer installations are being made. Some 13 Union Pier residents had complained.

In other areas, the board approved getting specifications on the cost of constructing one or two tennis courts next to the township hall. Some $7,000 has been appropriated for tennis courts.

A petition from five families on Fourth lane in Union Pier requesting water service from Chikaming township was referred to Donald Peterson, Chikaming township supervisor. Ohlme said Peterson told him a letter is being formulated concerning the request.

Ohlme announced that the rate charged all municipalities using Chikaming's base station for dispatching fire, ambulance and police calls has been increased by the Chikaming township board from $150 to $250 per year.

Sex Bias Laws Will Be Topic

Berrien county school counselors and administrators will meet in Berrien Springs Sept. 21 to hear the state coordinator of non-sexist education explain new sex discrimination laws and their impact on a wide variety of school activities.

Jo Jacobs, Michigan Department of Education Title IX coordinator, will conduct the one-day conference at the Berrien Intermediate school district office headquarters beginning at 9 a.m. The conference is being sponsored by the Berrien Intermediate school district and Benton Harbor Area schools.

The conference will deal with methods of complying with new federal Title IX regulations which prohibit sex discrimination in many school activities.

Jo Jacobs joined the Michigan Department of Education two years ago as Title IX coordinator. She is former executive director of the Planned Parenthood association of Kalamazoo county and is active in several citizens committees for the Kalamazoo public school system.

The public is invited to attend the conference, according to James Caudill, director of information services for Benton Harbor Area schools. There is no charge for the conference, he said, and reservations can be made by calling either Benton Harbor Area schools or the Berrien Intermediate school office before Sept. 19.

Lakers, Comets To Run Opposing Attacks Saturday

Lake Michigan Catholic and Coloma — two teams with attacks as different as night and day — square-off at the Comets field Saturday night in a battle of conference favorites.

The Lakers have been named by quite a few Red Arrow coaches as the team to beat while Coloma and Dowagiac are mentioned as the top dogs in the Musomland.

While the Comets use a lot of power football with big men up front, Catholic will use a more varied attack — and that has Comets' coach Bob Irvin worried.

"We think they have a well balanced attack between running and passing," comments Irvin. "They have good runners and a good passing attack. That will make it difficult."

"Offensively, they run and do so much stunting. In the early part of the season, that can create some problems."

"But it's that offensive line worries Catholic's head mentor Terry Rose.

"I'm not that happy with the way the offensive line came off the ball in our scrimmage," he states. "As a staff, we were disappointed in the line but impressed with the backs and the passing game looked good at times."

"Our biggest thing is to try and get the line to come off the ball quickly. I feel that will be our only advantage — to outkick Coloma."

Catholic has the quick backs to do it. Seniors Phil Banks and

"They didn't go down on the first shot. (Bill) Couvelis will be up there, too. He had a rough scrimmage."

Irvin was generally pleased with the Comets' performance against tough South Haven. "I thought we did a pretty decent job," he comments. "We didn't do a good job on the corners on containment. But overall, I was fairly satisfied."

Senior quarterback Dan Davis did a good job in directing the offense. "He started for us last year and we expect that of him," Irvin says.

Irvin is undecided as to his starting tailback against the Lakers. It will either be senior Scott McLean or junior Mark Carter. Both saw plenty of action against the Rams.

Rose was happy with his quarterback Mike Masini. "We felt he really looked sharp," Rose declares. "He had good protection and some times the protection held up so long that he had too much time to look."

"I was also impressed with ends Jack Visin, Andy Rodez and Randy Fish. All showed a lot of poise, especially Rodez. He was fighting a pulled muscle and we found out later he had a dislocated rib."

It might be noted that Coloma stomped Catholic in the first year of the series — 1974 — and went on to a 8-1 record. Since then, the Lakers have won two straight and the Comets have finished up 5-4 both times.

Former BH Cage Coach Named By WMU Perigo Hall Of Fame Selection

KALAMAZOO — Bill Perigo, former Benton Harbor high school cage coach, is among four athletes who comprise the 1977 group of inductees for Western Michigan University's Athletic Hall of Fame.

Others named along with Perigo are Dave Arnold, Frank "Stubby" Overmire and Bob Howe. This will be the fifth group of inductees and brings the Hall's membership to 24. They will be honored at ceremonies on campus the weekend of Oct. 7-8.

Perigo coached basketball at Benton Harbor for 13 years from 1968-81, winning seven Southwestern Conference titles and posting a 122-85 (.655) record during that span. His team won the state championship in 1941, while two other quintets reached the state finals.

A native Hoosier, he graduated from Western Michigan in 1934 after earning three cage letters. Perigo's teams won 40 of 53 games and he tallied 338 points.

He left Benton Harbor in 1949 to take over as head coach at Western Michigan. Perigo carved a mark of 41-27 in three years at WMU, including guiding the Broncos to a share of the 1952 Mid-American conference title, the school's first cage crown.

In 1953 Perigo moved to the University of Michigan where he served eight years as basketball coach. He retired in 1960 to become Michigan's assistant director of student community relations. Perigo, who also coached the semi-pro Twin Cities Sailors, presently resides in Naples, Fla.

Arnold earned three cage letters from 1935-37 and scored 532 points for teams that won 39 of 51 starts. A native of Kalamazoo, Arnold currently serves as executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Associations.

Overmire, a Grand Rapids native, compiled a baseball record of 20-7 from 1939-41, a Branch career record. He went on to a career in pro baseball that spanned 26 years as a player, minor league manager and coach, a major league pitching coach with the Detroit Tigers and as a scout. Overmire died earlier this year.

Howe, of Flushing, played football at Western from 1964-68 and earned second-team All-American honors as a senior after leading the Broncos to a MAC title share. He went on to play for the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL for 10 years. He is now sales account executive for KSD radio and television in St. Louis.

MSU Picked By 10 Over Purdue

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State is getting ready to be a downright nasty host to Purdue Saturday as the Big Ten rivals launch their new seasons.

Not only are the Spartans promising only 45,000 to 50,000 people in the stands — because classes haven't begun yet — they're not even providing a band. Purdue has to furnish that.

To top it off, MSU is favored to hand the Boilermakers and their new coach Jim Young a whipping.

Michigan State plays three home games — half of their home schedule — before students return to fill some more of the 76,000 seats at Spartan Stadium. And the MSU band won't show up until the third game, leaving music to the massive Purdue band, and local high school band and, next week, an alumni band.

The Spartans have been installed as roughly 10-point favorites, but coach Darryl Rogers cautions that he knows little to expect from either team.

Not only does Purdue have a new system under Young, former Arizona head coach and an assistant at Michigan and Miami of Ohio, but the Spartans are question marks themselves going into the new season.

They should do better than last year's 4-4-1 mark, but the defense and running game must improve sharply to pull MSU toward the top of the Big Ten.

The Spartans' strong point is the passing game, with quarterback Ed Smith — last year's conference leader — tossing to Kirk Gibson, Mark Brammer and Edgar Wilson, a converted basketball player.

"While they run well, Michigan State's biggest threat is the pass," said Young. He said Gibson "is the best receiver we'll see all year."

Jim Earley is solid at fullback for MSU, and junior college transfer Leroy McGee will get his Big Ten test at fullback, with a brigade of freshmen ready to step in if he falters.

The defense will rely on such standouts as tackle Larry Bethea, linebacker Paul Rudzinski and middle guard Kim Rowekamp to try and plug up the 25-points-a-game sieve of last season.

Young says flatly that "we'll have a good defense," but the Boilermaker attack is questionable as Purdue tries to improve on last year's 5-6 mark.

The star is fullback John Skibinski — the "Polish Pony" — who bulled for 871 yards last year.

But Purdue doesn't have a quarterback who has taken a snap from center yet. Senior Joe Metallic, who has played at other positions and quarterbacked the junior varsity, has gotten the nod over freshman Mark Herrmann, but the newcomer may take over before the year is out.

Russell Pope, a converted defensive back, is the starting tailback, and Reggie Arnold and Raymond Smith are fleet receivers. Young has promised to ditch the old grind-it-out attack and throw the ball a lot more.

But enough of the summer, let's take a look at what's coming up this grid year. A lot of people are picking Michigan to be number one. The Oakland Raiders proved they could win the big one — maybe Bo's Boys can do the same.

The other half of the nation is either picking Notre Dame or Oklahoma. The Irish have a tough test against Pitt, but they remember how last season started — look for ND to romp. Oklahoma opens against powerhouse Vanderbilt — find some Sooners 270. Vanderbilt Dead.

The Wolverines get a look at a revitalized Illinois team — but look for U-M to score big. Speaking of things which score big, on with the forecast!

Hoopie had a mediocre year last season, hitting 71 per cent of his high school picks and 71 per cent of his college choices. But a new year dawns new hope.

Major Hoople Returns By Unpopular Demand

BY MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Expert Hoopie

Egad, football freakies...can it be the time of year when grown men and women go bananas over a bunch of kids running around on a lined field?

Yes, and the old Major is back by unpopular demand to help all you grid gringos make a million dollars in the office football pools. Of course, the easiest way to do that is just to give your bucks to me — and I'll give you back a million excuses on how I lost your money.

It doesn't seem like another season should be upon us already. Wasn't it just yesterday that Tony Dorsett was running through Georgia, Michigan was running around Los Angeles and Al Hunter was running out of girlfriends.

Hoopie didn't take it easy this summer...resting on his laurels or anything else. I decided to take a long vacation and visit strategic points of interest which would help me pick winning teams.

First I went to the Baseball Hall of Fame. But I still haven't figured out how this guy Ty Cobb could kick a football with those sharp spikes on his shoes. And Ernie Banks deserved to be in the Hall if he can catch passes with that big glove.

But I think an alleged friend of mine gave me a hint. He told me the Football Hall of Fame was in Springfield, Mass. All I want to know is who Bob Cooney played for and how much yardage he gained.

Bucs Win But Still Can't Gain Ground

Cubs Top Expos In 10th

All the Pittsburgh Pirates can do now is win and wait. But trailing six games behind Philadelphia in the National League East with 22 games left in their season, the Pirates have not lost their sense of humor.

Before Thursday night's game against the St. Louis Cardinals, Pirates trainer Tony Bartfelmus announced in the locker room that the New York Mets had beaten Philadelphia, 3-1.

"The guy said, 'All right, we gotta go,'" said Pirates outfielder Dave Parker. The Pirates went, all right, beating St. Louis 9-5 with the help of Parker's two-run homer in the seventh.

But, as it turned out, Bartfelmus was just having a little joke. Philadelphia actually beat the Mets, 8-2.

"The guys all laughed at Tony's joke, and I think that's good because we can't crawl in a hole just because the Phillies win," said Parker. "You've got some competitors here, and if the Phillies beat us, they'll know they've earned it. But I'm still thinking positive. They could go into a slump."

Pittsburgh has won four of its last five games, including two over Philadelphia in a three-game set last Monday and Tuesday. But in that time, the Pirates have managed to shave only a single game off the Phils' lead.

"If we win eight straight games," said Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner, "something is going to happen. I can feel it."

Parker's homer was his 19th of the season and put the Pirates in front of St. Louis to stay. With one out in the seventh, Miguel Dilone walked and stole second. He scored one out later when Phil Garner doubled off St. Louis reliever Rawley Eastwick. Al Hrabosky relieved Eastwick, and Parker smacked his two-run homer.

In the rest of the NL Thursday night, Chicago edged Montreal 3-2 in 10 innings, Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 5-1 in 11 innings, Cincinnati beat San Francisco 6-5 and Houston, downed San Diego 7-1.

Philadelphia let New York get a 2-0 lead, then shelled Mets reliever Bob Apodaca for three homers in the seventh. Bake McBride led off the seventh with his 15th homer of the season. Mike Schmidt smacked his 34th, and Jay Johnstone hit his 13th.

Dave Rosell scored on Bill Buckner's sacrifice fly in the 10th as he gave the Cubs their victory. Cubs reliever Bruce Sutler, 6-1, struck out the first six batters he faced in the NL record for consecutive strikeouts.

Dusty Baker homered and scored the winning run in the 11th on Dave Lopes' sacrifice fly to give Los Angeles its victory over the Braves. Ron Cey also homered for the Dodgers in the second inning, his 28th of the season, and scored on a passed ball in the eighth when Los Angeles took a 4-3 lead.

George Foster's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the ninth inning drove in the winning run and allowed Cincinnati to snap a three-game losing streak.

Roger Metzger tripled with the bases loaded in Houston's five-run sixth inning, and Floyd Bannister, 4-4, scattered seven hits as the Astros handed San Diego only its third loss in the last 10.

Central Michigan tuned up for the meeting with a 39-7 romp over Alcorn State last Saturday.

"If we are to defend the championship," said Ball State Coach Dave McClain, "this is a very important game for us. We're playing away from home, it's at night and it's the season opener."

Stobart, once a quarterback for Ohio U., is worried about the Rockets' lack of depth. "It really hurts when you have to work against our down-the-line reserves."

Ex-Lion Kowalkowski Returning Home Tonight

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Kowalkowski would love to be in Detroit, and that is just where he will be tonight. The only thing is, he will be wearing a Cleveland uniform.

"It's nice to go back, even if it's only an exhibition game," said Kowalkowski, an 11-year National Football League veteran guard who spent all of those years with Detroit before the Lions traded him to the Browns for a draft choice at the start of training camp.

"It means more to me," he said of tonight's preseason game. "In my own mind, I'd rather be there (in Detroit)."

In tonight's other action, it will be the New York Jets at Washington. Philadelphia at Green Bay and Oakland at Los Angeles. Saturday night's games are Minnesota at Buffalo, Houston at New Orleans, Baltimore at Tampa Bay, Cincinnati at Chicago, Denver at Kansas City. And on Sunday, it will be Miami at the New York Giants, Atlanta at New England and Seattle at San Diego.

The long NFL weekend began Thursday night with Dallas mauling Pittsburgh 30-0.

It is a whole new world for Kowalkowski, a starter for almost all of his 11 years with the Lions but now just trying to make the Browns' roster.

And how does he feel about his first trip back to Detroit since the trade? "Mixed emotions — but naturally I'd like to see us win the game," he said.

In Los Angeles, the Rams have three men capable of putting the ball in the air — but haven't decided as yet who will get the chance to do it. "The quarterback decision is still up in the air," said Coach Chuck Knox when asked whether Joe Namath, Pat Haden or rookie Vince Ferragamo would be his No. 1 passer.

If any of the trio has the inside track on the starting job, it would appear to be Haden, who finished last year as No. 1 and has had about as much playing time this exhibition season as Namath and Ferragamo combined.

The Rams, one of the consensus selections to represent the National Conference in the Super Bowl, have looked like anything but world-beaters this far, losing four of five games.

Tigers Nip Lancers

Denise Boyd scored with just 19 seconds remaining to give the Benton Harbor girls a season-opening 51-49 basketball victory over Lakeshore Thursday night in the Tiger gym.

After Boyd put Benton Harbor ahead 50-49, teammate Sheryl Finley stole the ball to stop a last ditch Lakeshore comeback attempt. She was fouled and made a free throw.

Retha Bragg paced the Tigers in scoring and rebounding with 14 and 13, respectively. Boyd added 13 points as the Tigers hit 28 per cent of their shots.

Lakeshore made 27 per cent of its attempts while being paced by Marlene Peldys' 22 points. She also had 10 rebounds.

Lakeshore led 10-8 after the first quarter, but Benton Harbor was on top 25-22 at halftime and 35-34 entering the last quarter. Lakeshore did the junior varsity preliminary 30-19 while getting 10 tallies from Melody Middleton.

St. Joe Golfers Edge Lakeshore

The St. Joseph Bears edged Lakeshore 188-188 in a golf match Thursday at Wyndwicks. For the Bears, Dave Ankl shot 58, Carey Ross 41 and Mike Borre and Rob Richter 43s. Mark Nidder led the Lancers with 39. Kevin Daniels carded 42, Bob Gelusko 43 and Mike Fisher 44.

No Tournament For Plangger's

MIDLAND — It's official. Plangger's will not be going to the Amateur Softball Association's National Men's Fastpitch Championships which start here today.

There was a possibility that the Benton Harbor team would go in place of the Dan Sanitation team from Pontiac. The Pontiac team defeated Plangger's in the title game of the regional last weekend at Saginaw.

A Pontiac player, Ed Johnson, was disqualified earlier by the ASA from playing in the regional and national tournaments. But Johnson went to court in Oakland county and obtained a temporary restraining order making the ace pitcher eligible to play through Sept. 21.

According to state ASA chairman Don Porter, ASA lawyers plan to appeal the ruling at a later date. Had Pontiac not obtained the court order, the entire team would have been disqualified from the regional tournament.

Plangger's finished second in the regional thanks mainly to Johnson, who beat Plangger's twice 5-1 and 2-1 in the title game.

Wesley Merrill was the leading tackler, including one sack which gave the little Shamrocks a safety. Boswell also intercepted two passes.

Hurons Facing Test At CMU

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Is Eastern Michigan for real in the Mid-American Conference football race?

The answer should come Saturday. The Hurons, picked for ninth place this season, can go to a 2-0 league-leading record if they win at arch-rival Central Michigan.

Eastern Michigan jumped on

Northern Illinois 25-2 last week to seize the early Mid-American lead before the anticipated powers start their league seasons.

One of those, defending champion Ball State, is involved in the other MAC game this week. The Cardinals, the first non-Ohio team to win a sole football championship in the league's three decades, visit Toledo Saturday night.

In nonconference activity Saturday, Bowling Green visits Grand Valley State, Kent State entertains Illinois State, Ohio University goes to Marshall and Western Michigan to Minnesota in the afternoon and Northern Illinois at Louisville at night.

All are playing their openers except Northern Illinois and EMU.

Two former Big Ten coaches, Denny Stolz and Chuck Stobart, make their Mid-American debuts this week. Stolz served as Michigan State's head man before taking the Bowling Green job. Stobart was an assistant at Michigan.

Eastern Michigan bids for a repeat of 1976 at Central Michigan. The Hurons posted their first Mid-American football victory ever with a come-from-behind 30-27 upset of the Chippewas last fall.

Central Michigan tuned up for the meeting with a 39-7 romp over Alcorn State last Saturday.

"If we are to defend the championship," said Ball State Coach Dave McClain, "this is a very important game for us. We're playing away from home, it's at night and it's the season opener."

Stobart, once a quarterback for Ohio U., is worried about the Rockets' lack of depth. "It really hurts when you have to work against our down-the-line reserves."

Chrysler Now Thinking Small

By MARTY BAIR
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — The company whose name used to be synonymous with big cars is making no bones about thinking small.

Chrysler Corp. on Thursday predicted imports, including its own, will hold on to their chunk of the market in 1978 and that small cars will make up about 40 per cent of its own sales next year.

Imports accounted for 22 per cent of all cars sold in the country last month. Since January, they have held 19 per cent of the U.S. market.

The nation's No. 3 automaker is unveiling three new mid-sized cars and two Japanese-made subcompacts next month, with another two U.S.-built subcompacts to debut in January.

The new models and demise of all but one of Chrysler's big cars is expected to boost the company's fleet average to 18.8 miles per gallon for 1978, a 3 m.p.g. gain from the current model year.

Federal law requires the automakers to average 18 m.p.g. or more for all the 1978 model cars they produce or face stiff fines.

"We anticipate that imports will continue to sell the 16 per cent of total car sales which they have average over the past five years — a slightly different

Funds raised from the drive will be used to purchase equipment, Quinn said.

Processors Set $180 Price For Concords

Area grape processors have announced a price of $180 per ton will be paid to grape growers this year for Concord grapes measuring 18 brix (sugar content).

The J.M. Smucker company and Warner Vineyards, both of Paw Paw, and Jeno's of Sodus have agreed to the $180 price, and expect to be receiving grapes by next week.

"We are pleased with the $180 price and feel it is consistent with prices in other states," stated Harry Foster, secretary of MACMA (Michigan Agricultural Marketing Association).

Last week MACMA announced an asking price of $187.50 per ton for Concords.

Warner and Jeno's also announced a price of $175 per ton for Niagara grapes.

Michigan's grape crop is predicted at 26,000 tons, up from last year's crop of 14,500 tons. The overall crop in the Great Lakes region is expected to be the lowest in recent years. New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio are all expected to harvest less than half a normal-sized crop.

Michigan Tart Harvest Totals 155 Million Lbs

Final figures for Michigan's 1977 tart cherry harvest report the crop at 155 million pounds, in between the spring estimates of Michigan processors and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The processors and the USDA originally estimated the crop at 134 million and 165 million respectively.

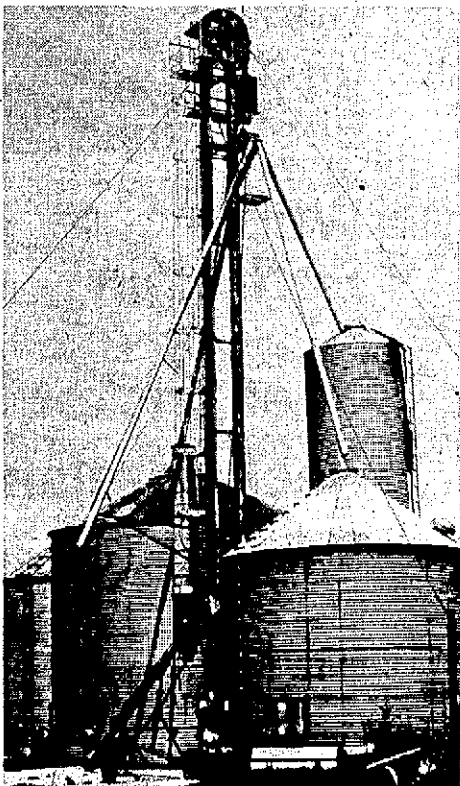

Southwestern Michigan harvested just under 30 million pounds of tarts this year, compared to last year's dismal harvest of 5.2 million pounds.

Northwestern Michigan led the state's harvest totals with an 80 million pounds production. Counties in the west central portion of the state harvested 44 million pounds.

In other states, Wisconsin harvested over 12 million pounds of tarts, the largest harvest in that state in six years. A short crop in New York placed it third among the Great Lakes states this year in tart cherry production. New York's total is reported at 10.4 million pounds. This is the first year that Wisconsin has surpassed New York in tart production. The total for the Great Lakes states is 180 million pounds.

Mike Pfeuffer of the USDA market news service said that most tart cherries in Michigan sold at 30 cents a pound, placing the total value of the state's crop at $46.5 million.

The 30 million pound production in southwestern Michigan is about 70 per cent of the long-year average harvest of 43.7 million pounds.

New Wheat Plan Restricts Loans

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is planning to prod farmers into a voluntary 1978 wheat set-aside program by withholding government loans from those who do not comply with the program.

Milton Francis, head of the Berrien county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), said that farmers who do not voluntarily reduce wheat acreage will not be eligible for 1978 loan or purchase programs. Any government loan agreements made this year, however, will not be affected.

Under the new program, farmers will be asked to reduce their wheat acreage by 20 per cent. Of the remaining acreage, an additional 20 per cent must be set aside or planted as a crop not for commercial harvest.

Francis explained that a farmer who planted 25 acres of wheat for 1977, should only plant 20 acres for 1978 to qualify for the program. Of the remaining 20 acres, four more (20 per cent) should be planted as a conserving crop such as hay or alfalfa.

Exact acreage figures for each farm will be based on reports of this year's acreage, Francis added. The final date for reporting crop acreage is Sept. 15, 1977.

HOLDING IT BACK: U.S. government is urging farmers to increase private storage facilities for grain to handle surplus expected. Drying and storage facility pictured is from Ken Payne farm near Galien. Many are taking advantage of low interest government loans to increase on-farm storage. Some storage bin manufacturers are putting plants on 24-hour, seven-day-a-week operation to meet demand, but backlogs in heavy grain producing areas are reported from one to two months. (Staff photo)

Assessment For Plums Proposed

The Michigan Plum Growers Marketing Committee, a division of MACMA (Michigan Agricultural Marketing Association), has taken the first step toward establishing a State Plum Industry Promotion and Research Program.

Harry Foster, secretary of the plum committee, said that a petition drive has been launched in the state to initiate a hearing and referendum on the issue. At least 200 signatures are needed before the petition is submitted to the Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA).

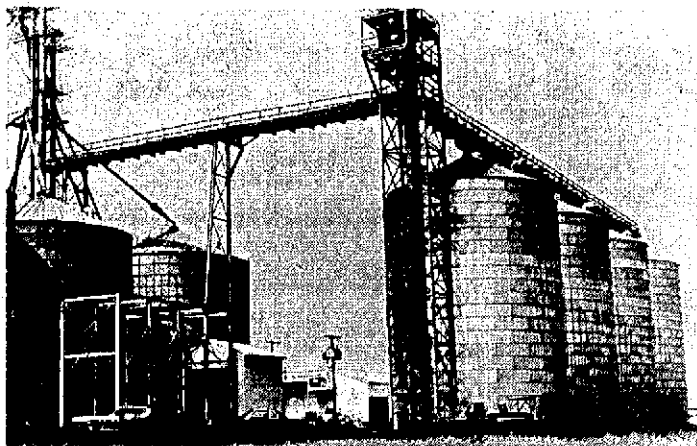

HESSIAN FLY

The Hessian fly, which came to the United States via the bedrolls of German mercenaries during the American Revolution, is one of the earliest known insect invaders on the continent. Eventually, the pest destroyed millions of bushels of wheat in North America.

MORE RICE: BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentina expects to harvest some 300,000 tons of rice this year, or 7 per cent more than in the 1975-76 season, according to this country's Secretary for Agriculture and Livestock.

AWAITING RECORD CROP: Buchanan Co-op has added four new storage bins (right) to facilities in anticipation of bumper corn crop, slow market and shortage of storage space. New bins will hold 232,000 bushels, more than doubling previous capacity at this site: Michigan farmers are expected to harvest 154 million bushels of corn in 1977. Last year southwestern Michigan produced almost 11 million bushels. Dick Kading, assistant manager at Co-op, said that space will rent at around three cents per bushel each month. Kading said Co-op has yet to decide if it will handle corn stored under government loan. (Staff photo)

Corn Loans Now At $2

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has upped its loan price for this year's corn crop to $2 per bushel, according to Milton Francis, director of the Berrien county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office.

Francis said that while exact rates have not been announced for each county, loan prices in southwestern Michigan are generally a few cents above the national rate. The previous national rate was $1.75 per bushel. County rates were $1.81 for Berrien, $1.78 for Cass, and $1.77 for Van Buren county. Prices are adjusted locally to allow for differences in transportation costs.

A large number of area corn farmers are expected to apply for the government loan, Francis said. The current local market price for new corn is around $1.55 per bushel.

A record corn crop is predicted for the state and the nation this year by the USDA Crop Reporting Service. Farmers in Cass, Van Buren and Berrien counties planted over 140,000 acres of corn last year and harvested 10.8 million bushels. Another good harvest is expected for southwestern Michigan this year, according to county extension agents.

Apples Scarce In Europe

Western Europe's apple crop is expected to be the smallest harvest in about 15 years, according to a recent agricultural survey of 12 key countries.

Severe spring frosts coupled with heavy rains and hail are credited with the widespread damage. Total production for the 12 countries is estimated at 6.1 million metric tons, about 30 per cent below average.

Production in France, Europe's leading exporter, is down 41 per cent from normal production. West Germany, Europe's leading importer, is 41 per cent below average, and the smallest since 1965. In the United Kingdom, a market formerly of major trading importance to the United States and Canada, the crop of dessert varieties is down almost 40 per cent.

Other large, significant declines on the continent include: Belgium, 55 per cent; Spain, 30 per cent; Switzerland, 27 per cent; the Netherlands, 21 per cent; and Italy, 11 per cent.

State Blueberry Crop Worse Than Expected

Michigan's 1977 blueberry production was even less than the record low anticipated, according to Pete Holbein of the Michigan Blueberry Growers Association.

Holbein reported that the total figures for the state indicate that Michigan blueberry growers harvested only 23 per cent of a normal crop. Damage estimates early in the year pegged the crop at 25 to 35 per cent of a normal crop.

"Even when you figure that a grower may have received double the price for his blueberries," Holbein commented, "that still only gives him 46 per cent of his normal income."

Mike Pfeuffer, USDA market news reporter, said that deliveries to processors amounted to 7.1 million pounds this year, compared to almost 24 million pounds in 1976. Holbein estimated that total production, including fresh market harvest, will still leave the state's total at under 8 million pounds. In June, area processors estimated crop size at 13.5 million pounds.

Both drought and severe cold were credited with contributing to this year's record low production. Rainfall was reported as 40 per cent below normal in June through September last year. This reduced plant vigor and consequently cut the number of fruit buds to 75 per cent of normal, according to processors.

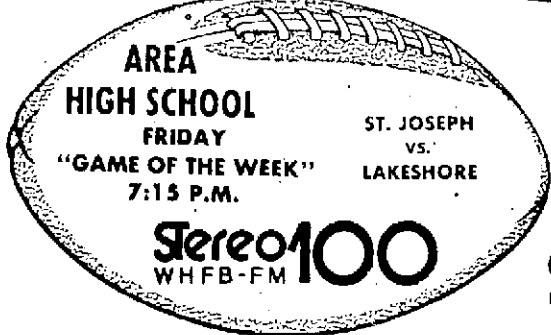

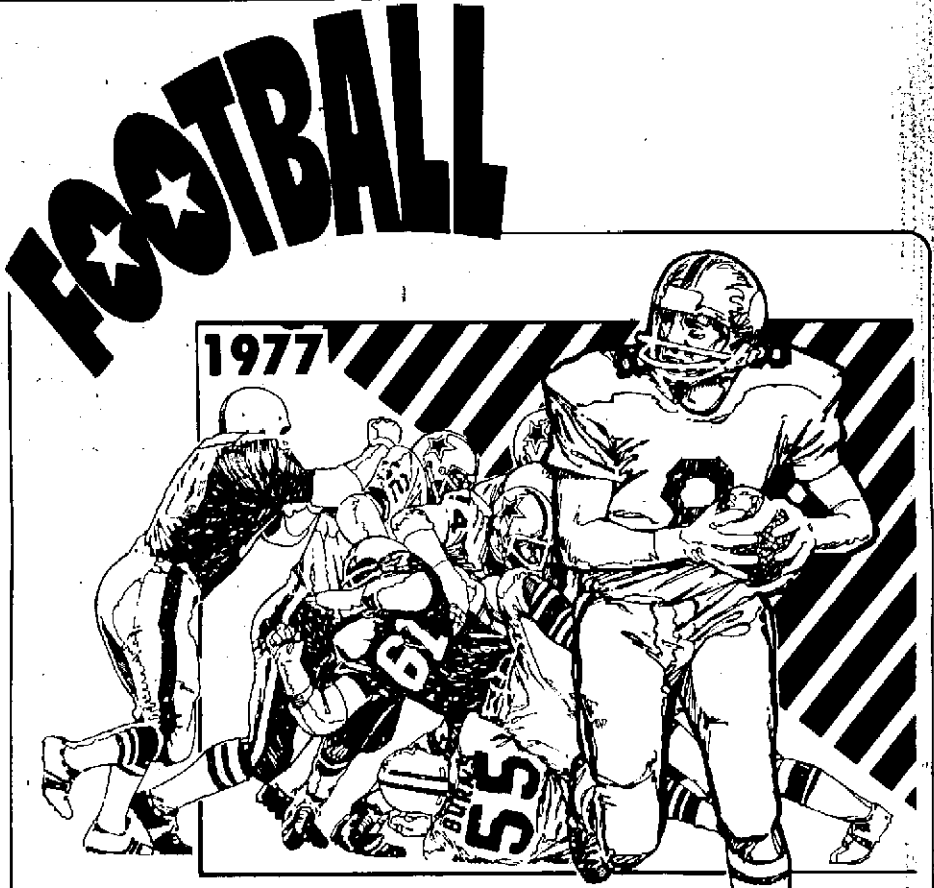

Also damaging the blueberry bushes were the 32 straight days below freezing recorded last winter, with temperatures as low as -31 degrees recorded at some sites. Spring frosts finished the damage, with a week of below freezing temperatures recorded while plants were in bloom.

Holbein said that there is some optimism for recovery next year, given the proper weather conditions.

Recent rains and warm temperatures have improved plant vigor and bud growth. Under optimum weather conditions throughout the coming winter and following spring, Holbein stated that production could return to 80 per cent of normal next year.

Berrien, Van Buren and Allegan are among the major blueberry producing counties in the state. In recent years Michigan has been the top blueberry producing state in the nation, with total production exceeding 30 million pounds each year.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Decline Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly today amid renewed concern over the interest rate outlook.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell more than 4 points in the early going.

Losers took a 3-1 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

At Thursday's close the Federal Reserve reported a $1 billion jump in the basic measure of the money supply.

The news gave rise to fears that the Fed might soon feel compelled to do some further tightening of credit.

Today's early prices included Weyerhaeuser, down 3/4 at 31; U.S. Steel, off 1/4 at 32 3/4; and Exxon, down 1/4 at 48 1/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average fell 8.23 to 888.18, erasing nearly half of its 17.50 advance over the five previous trading days.

Losers outnumbered gainers by an 8-5 margin on the NYSE. Big Board volume came to 18.29 million shares, against 18.07 million on Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index lost 37 to 33.22.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index dropped .16 to 118.91.

Plastic Car Due In '80s

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Chemical researchers here predict that by the mid-'80s about 85 per cent of your family auto will be made of rubber or plastic stuck together the way kids build plastic models.

Researchers at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. adhesives plant say cars coming out of Detroit in the next decade will have hoods, fenders, grills and even some load-carrying structural parts stuck on with adhesives.

Judge Gives Burglar 2-4 Years

By DENNIS COGSWELL

PAW PAW — A South Haven man was sentenced Thursday in Van Buren circuit court to serve from two to four years in prison for the February burglary of a South Haven auto parts store.

Philip E. Shaw, 19, had pleaded guilty earlier to a charge of larceny in a building. He was given credit for 187 days already spent in custody by District Court Judge William C. Buhl, who imposed the sentence, while sitting as circuit court judge.

Shaw had been arrested last Feb. 23 in connection with a break-in at Murt's Auto Parts, in which a set of tools were reported taken.

OLDIE BUT GOODIE

30-0076...There may be a lot of older 3 bedroom homes in St. Joe, but only a handful like this new listing in the Jefferson School District. The natural finished woodwork is complimented by the new carpeting and custom drapes installed months ago. The new gas furnace never has to work hard with the new aluminum storm and blown insulation was added earlier this year. In the newest style kitchen are a lot of nice cabinets and newer appliances. If this isn't enough, add a full basement, garage and paint job just finished. All for under $30,000. Call Gary Barriack at 983-1584, or at home, 429-7817, for your inspection.

FAIRPLAIN AREA

70-0418...Attractive 3 bedroom ranch, finished rec. room with fireplace. Attached 2 car garage. Ravine lot with stone grill. Set on a double lot with beautiful shade trees plus a beautiful view. Priced in the low $30's. Call Al Wessendorf - 926-8948.

YOUR OWN PRIVATE BEACH

70-0755...This fine older home, located on over one acre with 100 ft. of Lake Michigan frontage features 2 fireplaces. First floor utilities. Formal dining room, eat-in kitchen. Stairway to beach, sunken tub and much more. For your personal tour, call Dick DeGroot 983-0881 or Al Wessendorf 926-8948.

LOW DOWN PAYMENT

70-0178...2 bedrooms with new kitchen, carpeting, plumbing and wiring. Ravine with creek. Just the home for a young couple. Call for your appointment. Ask for Judy Ruff or Dick DeGroot.

SPACIOUS AND CONVENIENCE

30-0074...That's what you'll get and much more. Three large bedrooms, wet bar, close to Lake Michigan. Approximately 1 1/2 acres - call Betty Couch at 983-1584 or 429-4357 for your tour of this home.

NEW LOOK FOR CORDOBA: Cordoba, Chrysler's midsize luxury car, has fresh front and rear styling for 1978, including new grille and stacked rectangular headlights. There's more elegance, fuel economy than before, too, Chrysler says.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

CHILMARK, Mass. — A month ago I suggested President Carter relax a little, give his top staff a Martha's Vineyard vacation and, in general, stop overloading the circuits. As I looked at the policy scene, all I could see were warning lights flashing, a good indication of the need for slack.

For the benefit of those who tuned out August, let me recapitulate the bidding. In the area of foreign policy, Secretary Vance was scheduled to solve the Middle East crisis, "normalize" our relations with the Chinese Communist regime, do something about Africa, and sell two-thirds of the Senate on a (non-existent) Panama Treaty.

On the domestic front, Budget Director Bert Lance was accused of being too well-trusted by friendly bankers. Lance had been staked over an anti-hill by Senator Abraham Ribicoff, who in the course of an "ole boy" investigation of the Director by a Senate Committee, declared the Georgian had been viciously smeared by the press. Outraged journalists launched a massive search for honey to drip on poor Bert and encourage the ants.

At this point I suggested a month's rest and began to pack for our annual pilgrimage to Chilmark, where I can count on the sun and sea to recharge my batteries virtually undisturbed by the world outside. There is occasional fog, but I never complain: the fog serves the function of destabilizing all telephone connections with the mainland, usually for at least three days.

The net result is a pair of bruised hands obtained rebuilding a paddle tennis court. In our family commune everyone has his or her specialty, but since this year no lamps needed rewiring and one of our friends preempted shingling, I was consigned to the unskilled labor pool. Hence from 9-11 every morning I found myself replacing chicken wire around the paddle tennis court under the merciless eye of a Rochester, N.Y., psychiatrist. A splendid man, doubtless compassionate with his patients, but demanding incredible tension from his amateur carpenters. The tension is necessary because you play the ball off the wire in paddle tennis.

In candor I admit that, despite the contusions, it is comforting to look upon the work of one's hands and find it good (well, maybe B-minus). And I did get my ego restored when I demonstrated to the stunned women in residence that a man could prepare a beef stew for 28 (and it was good: the young people indulged in thirds!).

At any rate, after two weeks outside time and space, came re-entry. With it came the discovery that far from taking my humble advice, the President declared August "Action Month" with uniformly disastrous results. First, he fell for an Arab gambit and practically announced the Palestine Liberation Organization born-again as Amish Arabs, dedicated to fellowship with Israel. This illusion provided an excuse to bash the Israelis — until the Palestinian National Council met and indicated that Carter, Vance, et al., were Zionist stooges.

Then poor Cy mournfully wandered off to Peking, cheered on by announcements that nothing was expected from his visit. Allegedly the press section of his plane was filled with stringers for rural weeklies. In Peking he was given distinctly aloof treatment — Sino-logist friends tell me he would have gotten a far better meal at a middle-class wedding in Hong Kong — and returned to make a formal announcement that, indeed, nothing happened.

Meanwhile the President has mounted a full-court Senate press to gain approval of the Canal Zone Treaty. Why he peaked this soon is a mystery. True he has an agreement "en principe" with Panama, but an agreement "en principe" — as any Frenchman will tell you — means the negotiators have conceded two plus two equals four and other details remain to be ironed out. Two-thirds of the Senate may also agree "en principe," meaning that they see the fine print and check the polls.

Finally, instead of giving Bert Lance a decent interval to explain to the unsophisticated the wonders of modern banking, Georgia-style, the President parachuted to his friend's defense at the earliest possible moment. Shortly, an avalanche of other revelations began, leaving Mr. Carter sharing Lance's anti-hill. If only the President had come here, he could have avoided all these stews — and shared mine.

GOING TO MARQUETTE PRISON

Paper Reports Collins Transfer

DETROIT (AP) — John Norman Collins, convicted in a widely-publicized Michigan murder case in 1970, is leaving Southern Michigan Prison, reports in Detroit said today.

The Detroit Free Press said it had learned that state corrections officials plan to transfer Collins from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson to the more secure Marquette State Prison in the Upper Peninsula at the end of the month.

The transfer was being arranged because Collins allegedly helped another convicted murderer escape, trafficked in drugs and engaged in loansharking, the Free Press said.

Collins has been at Jackson since Aug. 28, 1970, following his conviction in the sex slaying of 18-year-old Eastern Michigan University freshman Karen Beineman.

She was one of seven young women slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area in the 1960's. Collins, now 28, was charged only with her murder. No one was charged in the others.

Robert Brown Jr., state deputy director of corrections, told the Free Press that prison authorities believe Collins aided in the June 5 successful escape of Robert Taylor from Jackson, where he was serving a life sentence for a 1975 Port Huron kidnap-murder.

State officials could not be reached to confirm the report.

Brown also reportedly said Collins was a friend of Taylor's and was the last one seen talking to him before his escape. Taylor is still at large. The Free Press said Brown expressed belief that Taylor escaped by getting hold of clothing similar to that of prison guards and walking out the main gate during a shift change.

When Collins was questioned by Deputy Warden William Grant, "John admitted he had conspired with Taylor regarding the escape and had promised Taylor money if Taylor would assist him in escaping, also," Brown was quoted as saying.

The corrections official said that plan was junked when Collins broke his foot playing baseball in the prison gymnasium. A new plan was devised for Taylor to "return in a helicopter and pick him (Collins) up at a later time."

Prison officials later quoted Collins as saying, "I am in the drug and money business in here but I had nothing to do with the escape. He (Taylor) used me," the Free Press said.

Collins' mother, Mrs. Loretta Collins of the Detroit suburb of Center Line, said in an interview with the Free Press that her son was being used by prison officials embarrassed about Taylor's escape.

She said her son had discussed escapes with her in a joking manner. "Everybody talks about escaping," she said.

Mrs. Collins said helicopter escapes have been a popular topic of conversation at Jackson since June 6, 1975, when a helicopter dipped into the prison yard and plucked convict Dale Olo Remling out. He was recaptured 30 hours later by police and FBI agents.

Mrs. Collins said she did not want her son transferred to Marquette as the distance would make it impossible for her to visit him.
